Call back at Smith

The A. O. Smith Corp. auto frame plant in Granite City has recalled 160 production workers, effective Monday, April 8, and will initiate a two-line level of operation at that time, it was announced today.

A plant spokesman said the callback will bring to 830 the total number of plant, office and supervisory workers on the Smith plant work force after Monday.

A statement issued today by a plant official said:

"Based on an increase in customers' projected frame shipment needs, it has been determined to increase our current production capacity to

Fund crisis

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer
Granite City finance officials were seeking means this week to avert total bankruptcy in the city's general fund operating accounts after the City Council was forced Monday night to set aside a $210,899 bill because the city lacks enough money to pay it.

The aldermen approved, however, a city payroll of $86,238 and sick leave of $2,203 for the first half of April, and claims of $20,566 for the last half of March—then authorized fund transfers of $74,407 from the state sales tax and income tax accounts so that City Treasurer Paul Rutledge could meet those costs.

Rutledge said after the meeting that Monday night's expenditures leave the city with a balance of approximately $30,000 available for operating purposes.

Had the bill of $210,899—submitted by the Finis Ernest, Inc. contracting firm of East St. Louis for March sewer repairs—been permitted to stand, the city would have been $180,000 short of meeting its full bill list, Rutledge said.

Faced with the prospects of an empty general fund treasury by the middle of this month, the council took action to determine if it legally may borrow surplus money from its tax levy accounts which Rutledge contends should not be touched.

These accounts are established by separate tax levies and tax income is apportioned to them on the basis of the tax rate established for them. Rutledge has insisted that these monies may be used only for the purposes for which they were levied and are not transferable into operating accounts.

Because of Rutledge's stand, council members a week ago asked City Attorney George Filcoff for a legal opinion as to whether or not the treasurer could "borrow" these surplus funds for operating purposes, and then repay them out of tax collections due later this year.

Filcoff, in an opinion given Rutledge prior to Monday night's council session, held such procedure would be legal. But Rutledge told the council: "Mr. Filcoff seems to feel this would be legal, but I won't do it. I am bonded for the handling of these funds and I want to know

Bandit gets $50,000 in SIUE funds

A lone robber armed with a pistol robbed two security guards of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and an SIUE messenger of $50,000 outside the Bank of Edwardsville at 10:30 a.m. today.

The messenger, Miss Donna Suh of the bursar's office, and the two guards, Ed Williams and Dave Johnson, had withdrawn the money from the bank a few minutes earlier to cash student payroll checks at SIUE.

Outside the bank, a black man pretended illness and walked to the guards' car and asked for aid. Williams, carrying two bags of money, was not yet in the car.

He attempted to push the man away, but the man displayed a pistol. Williams then dropped the two bags.

The bandit scooped up the bags, forced the two guards and Miss Suh into the car and instructed Johnson to drive west on St. Louis street to an A. & W. Root Beer stand, where he got out, entered another car and fled.

In leaving the guards' car, the bandit picked up a third bag of money on the front seat and told Johnson to "drive on or be shot."

Emphasis was placed yesterday on the impact of artificial procedures and work assignments on the cost of putting a unit of construction work in place.

Among positive notes heard was the statement that jurisdictional questions have caused no lost-time at building

Alice in Wonderland, Shriners, Knights visit crippled children

"Alice in Wonderland" came to the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children during the weekend, and the Tri-City Knights of Columbus helped get them there, aided by Jim Stack, a member, and Grand Knight Dr. J. R. Vasiloff.

Shriners from the Quad-Cities and the Divan of Ainal Temple were present as well as nobles of the Shrine Hospital Unit, many of whom reside in the Quad-Cities.

The cast performed song and dance numbers and then visited with the children. Included were the Mad Hatter, March Hare and other characters.

Knights of Columbus helped push the patients' beds into the auditorium for the show and then back to the wards again at the 100-bed hospital, where Ainal Shriners with the help of the K of C and many other groups placed 218 children last year.

Plan ditch expansion in Nameoki

A move to seek federal funds to help finance enlargement of the Nameoki drainage ditch was proposed here Wednesday in a meeting of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District board of trustees—the first such meeting held in the Madison County sector of the levee district in its 65 years of existence.

The five-man board, which also endorsed a move to request the federal government to declare the Deberry Slough area of Nameoki Township as a disaster area, instructed Chief Engineer James Spanos to prepare a "rough estimate" of the cost of widening and deepening the Nameoki ditch for presentation to federal officials.

Forum for GC school candidates

The nine candidates for three Granite City Board of Education positions have been invited to a "candidate forum" at 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 9, in the Granite City High School South auditorium.

The public is being encouraged to attend and hear the views of the candidates, who include three incumbent board members.

Harold R. Fischer, chairman of the Education Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, announced plans for the meeting. Attorney Leo H. Konzen is to be the moderator.

Each candidate is to be given five minutes to discuss the issues of the current campaign, followed by a two-minute summary later in the meeting.

Board members are to be elected Saturday, April 13.

The forum being announced today is similar in format to those held for school board candidates in past years.

Previous forums were sponsored jointly by the Chamber, the Ministerial Association and Granite City Area Council of Parent-Teacher Associations.

The board acted after Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler who attended yesterday's local levee board meeting, told the group that he intends to fly to Washington Friday to meet with Cong. Melvin Price of this district concerning the delay in distribution of flood disaster aid

Sewers special session

Beset by mounting sewer repair costs that reached a total of $1,888,000 Monday night, the Granite City Council will meet in special session early next week to determine what steps may be taken to meet the problem.

Mayor Paul Schuler said he will schedule a date for the special meeting so that the council members may hear details of a "suggested program" prepared by Prof. Robert Koepke, assistant professor of geology at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville who has made extensive studies into drainage and surface water problems in the area.

The special meeting call will depend upon when Prof. Koepke will be able to attend, but he hopes that the meeting can be held Monday night, Schuler said. The City Council does not have a regularly scheduled meeting Monday night.

He also plans to fly to Washington for a meeting there Friday morning with Cong. Melvin Price of this district concerning the delay in distribution of flood disaster relief funds by the U.S. Office of Emergency Preparedness which have been allocated to help defray costs of repairing sewer breaks in the Nameoki area.

The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers has approved $625,000 in flood disaster aid for Granite City, but the city thus far has received only $250,000.

In addition, the city maintains that it should receive approval of another $300,000 to meet a fair portion of the damage to the Nameoki sewer system caused by interior flooding last spring and summer.

Extensive damage by hail, wind

Hail and heavy rain whipped by winds that gusted in some parts of the area up to 65 miles per hour, hit the Quad-cities shortly before 2 p.m. yesterday, causing extensive damage to windows, cars and mobile homes.

The storm lasted less than half an hour, but brought 30 of an inch precipitation in rain and hail, according to readings at the Chain of Rocks locks.

The storm apparently was the western edge of a series that did the most property damage in history to the U. S. yesterday.

With the death toll passing 388, it became the worst tornado onslaught in number of fatalities since 1925.

About 6:00 p.m. Wednesday, a tremor of 4.5 was recorded here, the worst since 1908. The earthquake was centered near Carmi, 125 miles east of here.

Nationally, the windstorm death toll reached 73 in Kentucky, 65 in Alabama, 47 in Tennessee, 40 in Indiana and 29 in Ohio, with two deaths tallied in the Decatur area of Illinois.

Property damage exceeded $1 million in this state and was believed to be enormous in such states as Kentucky, Tennessee, and Ohio.

There were more than 20 storm-related injuries in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

At Lakeside Airport on Highway 111 across from Horseshoe Lake, 24 airplanes were damaged by hail the size of normal ice cubes. Damage was estimated at $25,000.

"It looked like someone dumped a giant tray of ice cubes on us," said William Nichols, owner of a plane at the airport.

"The hail was not round. It was square and jagged."

"Those who had fabric covered airplanes sustained the worst damage as the hail went right through the fabric. Metal airplanes were dented as though someone had hit them with a hammer."

"Nearly all the plexiglass windshields in the planes were broken by the hail, but fortunately the planes were well tied down and none of them were damaged by the wind, Nichols continued."

He said he was fortunate to have hail insurance but said most of the airplane owners at the airport did not, he believes.

April is the month the society holds its financial drives. Walter Milton reminded the club of the District Conference in Edwardsville April 26, 27 and 28.

Edward Reinalag asked that members of the club interested in joining the Rotary Club golf team contact him. The team will play the third Tuesday of each month, beginning May 21 and ending in October.

"Baby" Rotarian Donald Schaffner was introduced to the club. As the newest Rotarian he will be classified as the "baby" Rotarian until a new member is brought into the group.

Madison Rotarians John Blasimgian and Alex Markuly visited the Granite City club.

funds to the city to help pay for a series of sewer break repairs. Schuler suggested the information be prepared and that "if the board desires, I can talk with Congressman Price about the possibility of federal funds to assist in expanding the Nameoki ditch." The mayor also suggested the board might send a representative to Washington with him to present the case in behalf of the levee district, but the board took no immediate action on that suggestion.

Approximately 35 persons attended the meeting, held in the Granite City levee district offices at 1707 Madison Ave., at 10 a.m., and the first hour and a half was devoted to an open discussion of Dorey Slough area drainage problems and the levee district's responsibility in building and maintaining drainage projects in unincorporated areas.

William "Mike" Ebersold of Venice, one of the two Madison County representatives on the five-man board, told the meeting that the levee district is preparing to increase its ordinance which requires approval by the levee board of all building project drainage arrangements before building can be permitted in the Dorey area of Nameoki Township.

He said "we are getting ready to file suits, some of them involving building that dates back several years. . . These involve perhaps $2 to $3 million in building that never was approved for that area."

Jack Scoville, board president, told the Dorey area representatives that the board also is continuing its efforts to obtain easements through three farm properties south of Dorey Slough for the eventual construction of a ditch that would drain area surface waters directly into Horseshoe Lake.

He said he believed condemnation cases in circuit court, which already have been pending several years, can be brought to a successful conclusion within the next six months.

Trustee Romel Wilton of East St. Louis continued in a suggestion by Helen Hawkins of the Dorey area that the area within 500 feet of the natural watershed be proposed to federal officials for declaration as a flood disaster area. Under such a declaration, the federal government could buy properties that have been excessively damaged by seepage and flood waters of the area.

During the regular business session, Charles Meyers, East St. Louis trustee, walked out of the meeting after charging Wilton and Scoville with "playing politics with my life."

Meyers voted to strike the name of a permanent employee from the payroll when it was submitted for approval, but Wilton and Scoville refused to go along. Ebersold and Russell Robinson of Granite City, took no part in the discussion.

Meyers, who was shot and seriously wounded a year ago, said he objected to employment of the man he wanted removed as his "administrative aid," and once referred to the employee as "my bodyguard."

He said Scoville and Wilton were "playing politics in keeping the employee on the payroll," and that if he did not have the right to say who was going to work with him, then "I want no part of this."

Meyers rose, told the clerk to "scratch my name off" all claim and financial documents, and said "I won't be back any more meetings."

Scoville told the group attending the session that "while this is the first meeting to be held in Madison County by the levee board, I assure you it won't be the last."

Linton director of traffic of GC Steel

William E. Linton, formerly with Illinois Central Gulf Railroad and the Penn Central Transportation Corp., is management consultant to the Association of American Railroads, has been appointed director of traffic for the Granite City Steel Division of National Steel Corp., it was announced today by George Pulanias, vice president - administration of Granite City Steel.

Linton succeeds John W. Westhouse, who is moving to Pittsburgh as assistant director of traffic and transportation for National Steel.

Pulanias also announced two promotions in the Traffic Department at Granite City Steel: Eugene W. Marston from traffic manager-services to assistant director of traffic, and Thomas F. Steiniger from traffic manager-rates to traffic manager-rates and services.

Granite City Steel is one of the largest users of railroads, truck lines and river barges in the business. Linton, 32, has received a master's degree from the transportation center at Northwestern University, Chicago. He graduated from Nichols College of Business Administration, Dudley, Mass., in 1963. He has completed special courses in principles of computer operation and critical path method and the management training program of the New York Central System.

Starting with the New York Central, now Penn Central, in 1963 as a cost analyst, Linton filled positions of progressively greater responsibility.

He became assistant supervisor of track for the more about a lot of things before I transfer this money." The treasurer then suggested that the council authorize Placid to initiate a "friendly suit" against Rutledge in circuit court to force him to make such transfers. In this way the city could obtain a ruling, one way or another on the legality of such a move, Rutledge suggested.

On a motion by Alderman Everett Morlan, the council voted unanimously to authorize such a proceeding and one alderman asked Filcoff, "Can this be done in two or three days?" Filcoff replied that such a suit could be prepared and filed at that time, but to get a court hearing scheduled would be another matter.

The separate tax levy accounts from which some aldermen have proposed borrowing to get the city over its rough financial spots include such items as the interest and dividend account which now has a balance of $18,356, the lighting account with a balance of $33,825, the election account, $13,599; sanitation account with a year-end balance expected at $20,000, and a number of other accounts with smaller balances.

Granite City's operating fund balances have dwindled to virtually nothing because of a series of more than 15 sewer breaks in the Nameoki area, most of which have been repaired during the current fiscal year by the Ernest contracting firm.

The bill submitted by the Ernest company Monday night for $210,889 brings to $1,588,000 the total repair cost.

That billing also exhausted the city's budget item of $1.4 million for sewer repairs. At the beginning of the fiscal year last May 1, the city budgeted $800,000 for sewer repair costs, but as the figure climbed near the $1 million figure, the council amended the budget to $1.4 million.

Rutledge said his office anticipates about $100,000 from the state in sales tax and income tax allocations during April, but can foresee no other immediate income.

When the aldermen delayed payment of the Ernest company bill of $210,889 Monday night, they did so with the understanding the money becomes available. Finance officials agreed after the meeting that "we don't know just when that will be."

Gresco par leads South

Don Gresco shot an even par round of 36 on the front nine holes at the Arlington Heights Golf Course Monday to lead the Warrior golfers of GCHS South, but the Alton squad outshot the Warriors for a 221-206 Alton win. Warrior Ron Motil shot 41, Brad Bickhaus 46 and two of the 49s carded by Mark Harrison, Craig Bailey and Jon Lotry also were counted in the final score. Not in the team total was Chris Louis, who dropped from 41 in his previous round to 50 Monday.

Injured Stanley missed by Madison track team

The Trojan trackmen of Madison High School felt the absence of letterman Chris Stanley Tuesday in finishing third in a triangular meet with Cahokia and Lebanon at Madison.

Cahokia scored 84 points, Lebanon 50 and Madison 44 points with five first place finishes.

"We missed Stanley," said Coach Charles Steptoe. "I'm sure we would have taken second place with him running the high and low hurdles. Stanley injured a hamstring muscle in a meet during the weekend.

Trojan winners were Kevin Boyd in the 100-yard dash (10.4) and 220 (24), Willie Shearry triple jump (39), James Turner discus (125-5) and the 800 relay, Osbert Lomax, Lamont Garrett, Carl Bandy and Joe Young (1:41).

Second place went to Joe Young in the 100, and third places to Shearry in high hurdles, Boyd 440, Mike Walker low hurdles, Turner shot put and Shearry, pole vault.

Jeff Eaves—the athlete the fans do not see

By KEN THOMPSON
Press-Record Sports Writer
Throughout Madison High School's football, basketball, and baseball seasons, if area fans could look into the Trojan locker room before each game they would see a slim, tall, young man moving from player to player, talking with each individual in an attempt to quiet their sometimes quivering nerves, and often giving words of encouragement to the team, of which he is student manager.

"Jeff Eaves," Madison Coach Larry Graham told the Press-Record, "is probably the hardest working three sport manager in the area. Not only does he fulfill the duties required of him, he also is the head statistician for each sport."

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eaves of 1659 Fourth St., Madison, the 19-year-old senior moved behind the sports scene at Madison High after suffering a heart attack as a freshman while attempting to earn a starting spot on the school's cross-country team.

"Although I am not physically involved," says Jeff, "I become so emotionally involved that I feel I am in the game with my schoolmates."

Not restricting his activities to school sports, Jeff also is an excellent bowler at Tri-Mor Bowl here, and is a fishing and boating enthusiast.

During the auto racing season at the local Tri-City Speedway, he has been almost a permanent fixture on race nights for the past 12 years, recording statistics of each event and individual drivers.

"I enjoy all motorsports," he commented, "but I favor the sprint cars and midgets more than others."

"I am hoping that I can get enough racing fans together," he added, "to form a group to urge the return of weekly sprint car racing here."

Young Eaves, after graduating from Madison High School next month, hopes to land a position with a national racing public relations department.

"Until then," he remarked, "I am going to attend a truck driving school and remain active on the sports scene, in whatever capacity I can."

"We hate to lose him," he concluded, "but he has been the best student manager Madison has ever had, but I am sure that whatever he does in the future, he will perform the task efficiently."

North opens first golfing season

GCHS North opened its 1974 golfing season at Belleville East Tuesday on the par 36 back nine holes at the Clinton Hills golf course, and lost to the host school 207-248.

North's David Dodson shot 45, Gary Eaker 49, Tim Behrens and Rick Bohnenstiel 50 each and Brian Winfield and Jim Louis 53 each. Nine over par on the first hole, North trailed throughout.

Steele Coach John Vanbuskirk remarked, "What hurt us the most was our hitting two balls out of bounds at the first hole, but we are a young team which has great potential."

Warriors rugged, but East trackmen prevail

The Warriors of GCHS South captured eight firsts and eight seconds Tuesday in a track meet at Belleville East, but fell 70-85 to the host Lancers.

Competing in its first outdoor meet, South won with Tom Schooley in the 120-yard high hurdles (15.8) and long jump (20-11), Jim Hall in the 880 run (2:10.4), Doug Hartman in the discus (144-3) and Scott Hillmer in the high jump (5-10).

The 440-yard relay team (46), 800 relay (1:36.1) and mile relay (3:37.5) squads also earned firsts.

Second places were earned by Dwayne Terry in the two-mile and mile runs, Dale Williams in the 100-yard dash, Dave Brown in the 880, Dave Rueschhausen in the 440, Hartman in shot put, Ken Bertrand in high jump and Don Watson in pole vault.

Funny cars here Sunday

Eight nitro-methane fuel injected funny cars will be featured during a drag racing program Sunday at St. Louis International Raceway south of Madison.

Competitors in the funny car ranks are the popular Guthrie & Burton Mustang of Jim Guthrie from St. Louis, the Seaboard Automotive car, Tom Kenney's Red Baron, Paplich and Cantrelli, John Mihalko driving Ohio Thunder, Larry Swiatek, Richard Russell driving the Pandamonium Vega and Dave Seabring.

Racing also will be conducted in the stock, super street and selecta categories as well as all American Hot Rod Association trophy classes.

The gates will open at 9 a.m. with time trials at 10 a.m. and eliminations beginning at 2 p.m.

Park baseball managers to meet

A meeting at 7 p.m. today in Room Three of the Nameoki Recreation Center, Amos and Franklin avenues, will be held for managers of the five divisions of the Granite City Park District's baseball program.

Entry fees of $50 per team will be required at that time.

Warriors lose close tennis meet

Bill Rusick led the Granite City High School South singles tennis efforts here Monday, but the Warrior squad lost 3-2 to the visiting team.

Rusick won his singles match 6-0, 6-2, but singles losses by John Brooks, 6-4, 3-6 and 4-6, and by Frank Faulkner, 4-6, 6-3 and 3-6, gave Alton the edge in singles.

The teams split in doubles competition, Warriors Steve McClusky and Alan Davenport winning their matches 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, and Bill Berger and Gary Osborn losing 2-6 and 4-6.

STEELER BATTLE CRY was to be heard at 4 p.m. today by first-year coach John VanBuskirk when the GCHS North tennis players were to meet the Tigers at Edwardsville. (Press-Record Photo)

Track Trojans tie in triangular meet

On Monday afternoon the Trojans tied for first place in a triangular meet at Madison, with both the Trojans and the Roxana Shells earning 79 points. Brooklyn Lovejoy was third with 19.

A complete sweep of the top four positions in the mile run by Roxana gave the Shells 11 points in that event. Madison Coach Charles Stepiet commented, "If we could even have taken fourth in that event, we would have won the meet."

The coach said the Trojans' top distance man, Mike Walker, was entered in both the two mile and the 800 yard run, so he could not be entered in the mile.

Walker won the two mile in 10:54.3 and was second in the 800.

"The distance events are our biggest problem," Stepiet commented, adding, "Our field events are improving and we are holding our own in the dashes and relays."

In the field, Willie Shearry won the new triple jump event and set a new school record of 38-1 1/2. This is the first season the triple jump has been used in varsity competition.

Shearry also topped the field in the pole vault with 10-6.

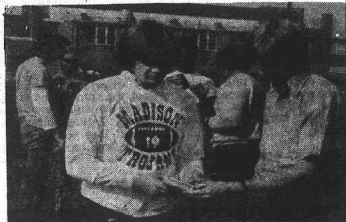

Other firsts were earned by Alvin Wigfall in the high jump (3-2), Kelvin Boyd in the 100 yard dash (1:10.3) and the 400 yard dash (3:43.3) and Joe Young in the 220 yard dash (2:25.4).

The Trojans won both the 440 yard relay in :49.1 and the mile relay. Members of the 440 relay squad were Carl Bandy, James Turner, James Redman and Lamont Garrett. Mile relay competitors for Madison were Turner, Robert Lomax, Garrett and Boyd.

Roxana won the 880 relay while Trojans Bandy, Young, Stanley and Garrett were second.

Other seconds for Madison were earned by Shearry in the 1200 yard high hurdles, Lomax in the 330 yard low hurdles, Ivan Simms in the shot put and Young in the long jump. Finishing third were Stanley in the 120 yard high hurdles, Lomax in the 880 and pole vault, Bandy in the 220, Turner in the shot, Simms in the discus and Ron Walker in the high jump.

Stanley, the Trojans' top hurdler, pulled a hamstring muscle in the 120 high hurdles and may be out of competition for some time.

The new Granite City North baseball squad lost to O'Fallon 4-0 at Wilson Park Monday, but Coach Bob Stegemeier said he felt the team gained valuable experience from the opener.

He added that the event gave him his first opportunity to study his players in varsity action.

O'Fallon had four games of experience before meeting North and came here with a 1-2-1 record.

"I was impressed by our pitchers," Stegemeier commented. "We used three pitchers because we did not want to tire them on their first outing and I wanted to look them over."

"Leo Martin pitched three innings, struck out one and gave up only one unearned run. Cary Simpson, who took over in the fourth inning, pitched three innings and struck out six batters, giving up one run," he related.

"Bill Dickerson, who relieved in the seventh inning, also shows promise."

O'Fallon earned four runs on seven hits and committed no errors. The North Stealers had no runs on two hits and committed one error.

The visitors garnered one run in the second inning and another in the sixth and—sparked by a home run from Duane Daniels—collected two in the seventh.

LEADING THE WAY—Robert Stegemeier, head coach of GCHS North's baseball team, feels his Stealer team will make its presence known in the first season of competition. Stegemeier had high praise for his team this week, especially his pitchers. (Press-Record Photo)

Stealer hits were by Larry Petri in the first inning and Steve Reinagel in the seventh. Both were singles.

Busy pace for Cougars, Papes

The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville tennis team faces a hectic schedule of three matches in four days, beginning Friday afternoon.

Kent DeMars' Cougars, in their first year of varsity competition, open the weekend against the University of Missouri-St. Louis, a team in its eighth season of play. Last year, the Rivermen boasted a 127 record. Friday's match gets underway at 3 p.m. on UMSL's courts.

On Saturday, SIUE hosts its first home matches of the season. Quincy College and McKendree College will be guests of the Cougars for a triangular event beginning at 1 p.m. SIUE's home matches will be played on the courts of Roxana High School, located off Highway 111.

After a day off Sunday, the tennis Cougars will resume play Monday at 1:30 p.m. at Greenville College.

In doubles, the teams of Papes and DeGuerre and Ables and freshman Kevin DeMars (East St. Louis) both have 3-0 records. Johnson and Ingles have combined for a 2-1 log.

As a team, the Cougars are 2-1 after 9-0 victories over both Central Missouri, State University and U. of Missouri-Rolla. SIUE's only loss came at the hands of Northeast Missouri State by a 4-3 score.

Fertilizer shortage critical

By MARY LOU MANNING

SPRINGFIELD — "We're in a lot worse way than other countries," Jerry Arnold, Woodbine, Ill., said.

"We're unable to get one bag of fertilizer," Archie Brown, Carmi, Ill., said.

"We just don't have enough to go around. We need help. I guess that's why we're crying," Paul Orr, Colfax, Ill., said.

"If the crisis does not end, there will be little corn grown in White County," Bill Lemont, Crossville, Tenn., said.

That's the fertilizer crisis they're talking about. And the consensus of the approximately 300 farmers and fertilizer dealers attending the recent meeting called by Illinois Agriculture Director Robert J. "Bud" Williams is that there is indeed, a fertilizer shortage.

"This was a one-shot meeting," explained Williams, "attended by mostly fertilizer dealers to gather information on the petroleum-based fertilizer shortage."

A shortage of nitrogen fertilizer, which is a by-product of natural gas, will mean a shortage of corn. This, in turn, will mean an increase in price of both corn and beef since there will be less corn to feed cattle.

"We have been predicting this shortage for a long time," Williams said. "We've been on top of it, explaining that it was more critical than the fuel shortage, but no one seemed to listen."

Now time is running out. "Illinois farmers will begin planting their corn around the middle of April, depending upon the weather, and finish up around the middle of May," the director explained. "They will have to know soon how much nitrogen fertilizer will be available."

According to those testifying at the Springfield meeting, the answer to this question appears to be "not much."

"It is a serious, if not critical, situation," stated Lee Hayes, a retailer from Rockford, Ill.

One of the reasons for the shortage, according to the dealers, is the exportation of the product and the shifting of it to industry for use in producing explosives, nitric acid and plastics.

"We should keep nitrogen in the agricultural field," said Lemont. "We have to eat."

The dealers were also critical of the distribution of the product.

"There is a lack of proper distribution with some areas in better shape than others," said Hayes. "I suggest that a nationwide study be done concerning distribution."

Just a few years ago, Illinois ranked second nationwide in corn production. Last year, 9,000,000 acres of corn were planted in the state yielding 998,101,000 bushels, according to figures from the Illinois Crop Reporting Service.

Corn is not the only crop which may be affected by a fertilizer shortage.

"Our winter wheat as well as the red, soft wheat will be affected by the shortage," Williams said.

Although things look critical for this spring, Williams feels it is not too late to do something about it.

"If we can get some action from the major suppliers who have pulled out of Illinois, I think we can get some help for this spring."

5 seeking 3 Venice School Board posts

ELMER A. TAYLOR

Elmer A. Taylor, 55, is a candidate for the Venice School Board in the election Saturday, April 13. He has served three terms and is seeking a fourth three-year board term. Incumbent Leo Davinroy did not file for re-election. The other two incumbents, Taylor and Jack Tolliver, filed along with three others for the three positions to be filled.

Taylor, who lives at 632 Broadway, is married and has four daughters. His work experience has included employment at the Granite City Army Installation. His memberships include the Venice Crippled Children's Organization, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1300, Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307 and the Venice Methodist Church.

JACK TOLLIVER

Jack R. Tolliver, 48, of 1860 Klein St., Venice city engineer, is seeking re-election to the Venice School Board April 13. He has served on the board for seven years, including one year by appointment and two three-year elective terms. A former Granite City Army Depot supervisor, he is a native of East St. Louis. Tolliver attended Venice schools from the fourth grade through high school. He has coached the St. Mark's basketball team and has been active with Boy Scout Troop One.

Married and the father of six children, he is a member of St. Mark's Catholic Church and the Holy Name Society.

W. M. GATHRIGHT JR.

William M. Gathright Jr., 28, a candidate for the Venice School Board, resides at 202 Watson Road, Eagle Park. Holding a master degree in counselor education from SIUE, he is a State Community College counselor in the special services program. He is concurrently a candidate for a doctor of philosophy degree in health organization research at St. Louis University.

The majority of his work experience has been in the field of education in both the Venice and East St. Louis school districts, at both the elementary and secondary levels. He maintains membership in the American Federation of Teachers and the National Education Association.

As a student, counselor and educator, Gathright notes, he has been "exposed to the institution of education as it was, as it actually is, and as it should be."

He attended Lincoln School and graduated from Madison High School. Gathright comments, "A good public school system is an invaluable asset to the American society. Each individual and each community must play its part. I feel that it is time for me to contribute by taking an active part in the building of an effective public school system in the Venice district. I consider it a supreme challenge to become a good board member."

"In keeping with the energy crisis and the soaring food prices, the institution of education has also suffered. The cost of materials has risen nationally."

"The Venice school district has to come to grips with this situation. Three times in a row, a bond issue has been defeated. Our true needs have to be assessed. I intend to look at the problem and invest in a solution that will serve the best interest of the Venice district."

"There is no PTA in our district. I am interested in promoting stronger school community relationships, student participation, career education, a strong guidance program, improved facilities, and open public forums when needed, in addition to a strong, cooperative, productive school board."

"Learning is a process that goes on from the cradle to the grave. Proper motivation and stimulation make learning more meaningful. Meaningful education is vital in forming our future adults."

"It is my objective to shape our children and insure our country's future by providing them with the kind of equipment that will enable them to choose their own behaviors intelligently."

Salvation Army Rotary topic

Salvation Army services and the organization's current building drive were explained to the Madison Rotary Club at its Wednesday noon meeting in the Madison Recreation Center. Steven Bristol, Salvation Army board member informed club members the Salvation Army is interested in helping the people from all segments of the community. Work with the elderly and youth has been greatly expanded, he said. He noted that it not only is the underprivileged child that needs help, but that a middle class child often has as many, if not more, problems. Bristol said salaries paid to Salvation Army workers are meager, amounting to $43 a week if single and $69 if married. A team headed by Rotarian Ray Edwards won attendance honors for March.

WILLIAM J. FECHTE

William J. Fechte, 43, of 1012 Third St., is one of five candidates for three positions on the Venice School Board April 13. President of the Venice Band Parents, he attended Venice elementary and high school. He is a member of the board of trustees of the Lutheran Laymen's League and is a member of Concordia Lutheran Church.

Fechte has been an operating engineer for 25 years. He is a member of Operating Engineers Local 520 at Mitchell. Born in St. Louis, he has been a lifelong Venice resident. He and his wife, Laura, have a son, Matthew, and a married daughter, Mrs. Deborah Uechan.

He comments, "I was born and raised here and am the father of two children. My daughter has graduated from Venice High School and my son is in the second grade at Venice Grade School."

"I am active in church and concerned with the education of our school children. Two years ago, the music and art programs were dropped. In my belief, these programs are a vital part of a child's education."

"I would like to see if there is any way possible that these programs may be brought back into our school system. I will do my best to maintain the standard our school board has set, and I will try my utmost to keep and improve our school system."

LUCILLE KALOZEROU

Mrs. Lucille M. Kalozerou, 48, of 217 Kerr St., Venice, is seeking election to the Venice School Board.

A Venice resident 43 years, she was born in St. Louis. She is employed as a school bus driver for the Bi-State Transit System. She attended Venice grade and high school. She serves as secretary of the Take Off Pounds Sensibly group.

Mrs. Kalozerou and her husband, Van, have a daughter, Donna, 22, and sons, Bruce, 22, and Craig, 14.

She comments that her objective as a board member would be "to keep the school open so our children get a good education."

Local tax collection ok'd

Granite City Council members, convened as the Town Board, approved Monday night a resolution under which taxes will be collected locally this year by City Treasurer Paul Rutledge, who also is ex-officio town collector.

As a result of the action, Granite City Township will foot the bill for the local collection, a cost expected to range from $25,000 to $30,000.

During the past two years collections have been made by the office of County Treasurer George Musso. The city will not receive commissions for the collection as it did prior to adoption of the 1970 Illinois

Constitution which provided payment of official services from fees. City officials favor a local collection because they believe local control of incoming tax funds will permit earlier distribution of tax monies by the city treasurer. Last year distributions were delayed due to the large amount of book work involved in handling collections for all 24 Madison County townships.

Rutledge told the Town Board members he will complete as soon as possible an estimate of the cost involved in making collection so that the townships may appropriate the money

GC ok's overpass study

An appropriation of $12,500 in motor fuel tax funds to finance a location study for the proposed construction of a downtown area grade separation was approved by the City Council Monday night.

The action was taken in a resolution proposed by Mayor Paul Schuler as the first step in a move toward securing a federal grant to finance an overpass or underpass at the railroad tracks on either 19th or 20th streets or on Niedringhaus Avenue.

The location study would determine the most feasible location for such a structure at the most reasonable cost estimate.

Schuler has said a grant for a grade separation may be available under a new federal highway assistance program, the Federal Aid to Urban System (HAUS) which has been initiated by the U.S. Department of Transportation to replace the TOPICS program.

The TOPICS (Traffic Operations Program to Increase the Capacity and Safety of streets) program is to be phased out this year, probably by June 30.

Building of an underpass or overpass at the railroad tracks between downtown Granite City and FA Route 151 is among the city's top priority improvements.

State highway officials have estimated cost of such a structure at a minimum of $3 million.

Schuler was among mayors of 15 communities in this metropolitan region who attended a meeting Wednesday night in Collinsville at which district highway officials explained details of the new HAUS program.

In other action Monday night, the council placed on first reading a revised ordinance to regulate placement of mobile homes within the city limits. The ordinance had been posted earlier but was referred back to committee for changes two weeks ago. The ordinance specifies minimum lot sizes, required anchorage and tie-downs and other requirements designed to keep mobile home standards upgraded.

An ordinance under which the city may demolish abandoned buildings through court proceedings and recover the cost of the work from the property owners was given final passage. That ordinance was placed on first reading in the March 25 meeting.

A request by the Quad-City & Modern Cab Co. for a 25-cent increase in fares for each ride within the city was rejected after several aldermen protested the appearance and conditions of some cabs and urged the adoption of an ordinance that would establish minimum requirements for cab maintenance.

City Attorney George Filcott told the council he now has under preparation ordinance amendments that will strengthen taxicab requirements.

The cab company request for higher fares was referred to the council's police committee, the chief of police and the city attorney.

GC couple married 65 years honored at SIUE Senior Fair

By DONNA HARTWICK
Press-Record Staff Writer

Area senior citizens, in defiance of the age old cliché "when you retire, you are ready for the rocking chair," have become increasingly active in their own organizations in recent years.

The groups are designed to better plan activities—bus trips to historic places, dinners, theatre outings, monthly club meetings, bowling leagues and many other programs.

These retirees are keeping busy and happy doing things that several admit they never had time in which to participate during their working years and while busy raising families.

In recognition of the many senior citizens' clubs in Madison County, a "Senior Fair" was held at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville on March 22, sponsored by the SIUE Community Involvement Project of the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission.

The all-day spring social gathering, featuring a variety of programs and entertainment, was attended by over 1,700 persons.

Highlighting the day was the presentation of a certificate to Mr. and Mrs. Glen Christy, 1508 Kirkpatrick Homes, honoring them as the longest married couple among the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Christy have been married for 65 years and have resided in Granite City since their wedding on Aug. 23, 1926. They exchanged their marriage vows in the parsonage of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Christy, 85, was born in Missouri and her husband, Glen, 86, is a native of Ohio. The couple met at the old Chicago Can Shop, located near the 19th Street railroad tracks, where both were employed.

They had five children. The oldest child, Dr. Chester

MR. AND MRS. GLEN CHRISTY, 1508 Kirkpatrick Homes, display a certificate presented to them at the annual Senior Fair at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville to mark their 65 years of marriage. (Press-Record Photo)

Christy, a dentist, is deceased. Their other children are Mrs. Lucille Plaskey of St. Louis County, Mrs. Ruth Strole of Granite City, Mrs. Alice Castle of Princeton, Ill., and Charles Quentin Christy of Carbondale. They also have 17 grandchildren and 30 great-grandchildren.

Mr. Christy was employed as an electrician at General Steel Industries for 40 years. He retired 29 years ago.

Both he and his wife are members of Trinity United Methodist Church and the Golden Age Circle Club of Kirkpatrick Homes.

Mrs. Christy is a past president of the senior citizens club, having served in that office for four years. Among those attending the SIUE event were at least 10 couples who have been married 50 years. Mrs. Christy said. One couple has been wed for 63 years and another couple for 62 years, she noted.

To climax the day-long program and show they still are young at heart, Mr. and Mrs. Christy danced a waltz to the approval of their contemporaries.

Party surprises Michael Kadane

Michael Kadane was honored at a surprise birthday party this week given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Veach, 2824 Grand Ave.

The rathskeller area was decorated in yellow and white for the occasion and the colors were carried out on a decorated cake and candles on the dinner table.

The guest of honor was presented with gifts. The remainder of the evening was spent playing cards with prizes for everyone.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Michel, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Michel, Mrs. Frances Vivod, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vivod, Mrs. Ann Varge, Miss Pat Kadane and Mrs. Michael Kadane.

During the party, a surprise telephone call came from the honoree's son, Robert Kadane, and his family who reside in Eau Claire, Wis.

Mrs. Jackson is Rollettes hostess

The Rollettes Club held its monthly meeting Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Sharon Jackson, 5 Country Lane Road.

In keeping with April Fool's day, the hostess presented each guest with an appropriate gift preceding the games period. Prize winners included Mrs. Betty Brooks, Mrs. Debbie Bettorf and Mrs. Jeanette Wilson.

A buffet luncheon was served by Mrs. Jackson to those named and to Mesdames Edith Wolford, Helen Warfield, Connie Tinsley, Diane Wilson, Rosita Radefeld, Mary Ann Buttone, Joyce Waller and Carol Smith. The next party will be with Mrs. Warfield in St. Jacob, Ill.

Roundtable meeting Tuesday evening

"Keep America Beautiful" will be the theme of the district Cub Scout Roundtable at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Coolidge Junior High School, according to Mrs. Pat Foote, den leader. Due to the increased cost of mailing, informational material will be distributed at the meeting. Mrs. Foote said. Details relating to the presidential award also will be available.

Leaders who have crafts pertaining to the theme, Mother's Day or Easter are asked to bring the items to display.

Buhmann wins Pack 4 derby

Cub Scout George Buhmann collected the first place award Monday evening at Logan School as his model racing car outpaced a field of 35 entries in Cub Pack 4's annual Pinewood Derby race.

Brett Basden and Clay Douglas captured second and third place honors, respectively.

Prior to the race, awards were given in three other categories of competition—most original, best paint job and best design. Ted Scrum and G. Rollin Henn, scout executives, served as the judging team.

First place in the most original category was awarded to Paul Ragsdale, with Basden receiving second and Darren Miller, third.

Best paint honors went to Darren Miller, first; Richard Miller, second and Richard Johnston, third.

Johnston took first place in the designing area, with Jimmy Barnes receiving second and Andy Lash awarded third. All participants were presented honorable mention ribbons.

In a separate contest for pack leaders who entered model cars, Cubmaster Gary L. Miller won first place; Mrs. Diana Ragsdale, a den leader, second; and Den Chief Frank Camarada won third. Refreshments were served after the events by Den 2 cuba.

T.D. CABLE

2 promoted by American Steel

Richard A. Bernard has been appointed director of industrial relations and Theodore D. Cable has been named assistant director of industrial relations for American Steel Foundries, Chicago-based division of Amsted Industries.

The appointments, effective April 1, were announced by Carl O. Sundberg, ASF president.

Bernard succeeds Louis E. Dorman, who will retire June 1 after 36 years with the company. Until his retirement, Dorman will handle special personnel relations projects. Cable assumes the duties formerly held by Bernard.

A 14-year veteran with ASF, Bernard started with the company as employment supervisor of its Hammond, Ind., plant. He was transferred to the Chicago general office in 1964.

Cable joined ASF in 1955 as employment supervisor of its East Chicago, Ind., plant. He became personnel supervisor at the ASF general office in 1961, manager of employee benefits in 1962 and manager of employee relations and benefits in 1969.

ASF employs more than 3,600 people. In addition to its East Chicago and Hammond operations, it has the plant in Granite City, and one at Alliance, Ohio.

Principal products are cast steel components for railroad freight cars; excavating teeth for construction and mining; steel springs for locomotives; railroad freight cars, and earth-moving equipment; and fifth wheels, the coupler which connects a highway tractor to its trailer.

Women educators endorse ERA

Endorsement of the Equal Rights Amendment Bill and support of its ratification by the Illinois General Assembly were voted by 986 delegates to the 39th annual state convention of the Illinois Lambda State Organization of The Delta Kappa Gamma Society.

Among those attending the conference, which concluded this week at the Marriott Motor Hotel, Chicago, were Vivian Raffaele, Hazel Towery, Dorothy Mitchell and Agnes Frynko, local members of Alpha Eta Chapter of Madison County.

Mrs. Frynko, principal of Parkview Grade School, is the incoming president of Alpha Eta.

At the Presidents' Banquet Saturday evening, Miss Betty J. Drayer of Godfrey, Alpha Eta president, and Mrs. Valerie Stevens of Granite City, president of Beta Eta Chapter, were accorded special recognition and honors.

Mrs. Marcella Harris, honorary member of Beta Gamma Chapter of Boone and Winnebago counties, was the dinner speaker.

Other Beta Eta members taking part from the Quad-Cities were Mrs. Helen Purkale, vice-president and Mrs. Marguerite Connolly.

An honorary organization for women educators, The Delta Kappa Gamma Society is concerned with assisting women in education to better professional preparation, fairer recognition of women's accomplishments in the teaching profession, encouraging professional excellence, and awarding scholarships to help outstanding women educators from other countries.

APA animal adoptions April 13

A special pre-Easter adoption clinic will be sponsored by the Quad-City Association for Protection of Animals (APA) from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Saturday, April 13.

The adoption center will be staged near the front entrance to the Grant City store in Nameoki Village Shopping Center, according to Dave Clayton, APA president, and Mrs. Connie Becerra, project chairman.

Included among the animals to be offered for adoption are puppies, kittens and several older dogs and cats. A Siamese and a long-haired calico cat also will be available.

All the animals have had protective immunization shots, Mrs. Becerra said.

A nominal adoption fee is asked from prospective owners to help finance the APA's animal care and public education program.

'Bosses Night' for secretaries

The Granite City Educational Secretaries Association held its annual "Bosses Night" program at Sunset Hills Country Club, with 87 secretaries and their bosses attending.

Theme for the party—"magicians"—was carried out in the table decorations. White "rabbits" and black to hats, created by Eugene Alassi, were used as centerpieces.

Featured entertainment was a magic act performed by Glenn Tonsor and a skit presented by several secretaries under the direction of Mrs. William Stohl, a College Junior High School teacher.

The association will next meet April 22.

HELP US CELEBRATE OUR 60th BIRTHDAY

Sixty years of progress... Back in 1914 when C. W. Pershall founded Tri-City Grocery Co. with one store in Granite City... people were singing the pop songs "St. Louis Blues", "When You Were A Tulip And I Were A Big Red Rose", "Twelfth Street Rag" and "Missouri Waltz". Henry Ford set a new standard for labor wages when he fixed a five-dollar minimum for an eight-hour day... U.S. citizens had to start paying income taxes... the Panama Canal was opened and World War One was started...

So through two world wars and two major depressions, the Tri-City Grocery Company has carried on, progressing slowly and soundly, expanding only when the organization and facilities were able to handle the job capably. As we start our 60th year, we sincerely thank our good friends and customers of the past three generations for the fine support you have given our stores.

'IGNORE EXTREMISTS' Sielaff says his prisons aren't clubs or dungeons

By JOAN MURARO

SPRINGFIELD—The Illinois Department of Corrections is a "club" and "dungeons," according to Corrections Director Allan Sielaff, who is visiting prisons in the state.

The Illinois Department of Corrections is only a step away from the dungeons of the Middle Ages, denying human rights and dignity to society's victims, who are more often than not stunted, does either one reflect an accurate view of the state department of corrections?

Emphatically not, says Corrections Director Allan Sielaff. He does agree, though, that in the recent past "some Illinois warden lived like feudal barons" and very recently "the inmates were in complete control of Pontiac."

How does Sielaff see the corrections department today? "Primarily doing its job, protecting the public," he says.

And society, Sielaff reminds, includes the inmate (the department prefers the term "resident") as well as department personnel and the public.

The director feels there are two main ways to go about protecting society: "First, for the long-term protection of society, by taking steps to ensure that the prisoner returns to the streets he will get in trouble again."

Sielaff is a big, apparently easy-going and outgoing man who came to Illinois from Pennsylvania where he headed a comparable department with a reputation for far-reaching, innovative procedures. Now, after nearly nine months on the job in Illinois—where the facilities he found ranged from the stone-turreted "fortress" at Stateville to the handsome, open security facility at Joliet, he says his basic goals and programs haven't changed.

"You have to treat each person as an individual, assess his strengths and weaknesses, determine his needs" before you can begin to help him change his life, he says. "Some needs are obvious, some aren't. Some prisoners are illiterate, some need remedial education, some need medical treatment, others need religious support, still others need vocational training. Whatever the need, Sielaff feels the man—or woman—should have something to say about his own future."

In that direction, Sielaff hopes soon to implement a new "contract" arrangement under which inmates, who will be working on a one-to-one basis with counselors to determine what the inmate needs, what he wants and what he can achieve. Then a written agreement outlining this program will be set up. While the prisoners, hopefully, works to fulfill it (spurred by self-satisfaction, "good time" credits and an improved position before parole board), the counselor will act as a "broker" to guarantee that all services involved are actually available and forthcoming.

Programs, he says, must be available to everybody who wants to take part in them. There was a time recently (before he assumed the post or just after) "when gangs literally controlled Pontiac. Certain inmates had special, privileged quarters; if a man didn't belong to the controlling gang, he couldn't take any education courses, he couldn't get into any programs."

Sielaff feels he has already taken a number of constructive steps. The Special Projects Unit at Joliet, for segrechange, and when you are changing, it brings out the ultra-liberals ("all prisoners are political"), and the law-and-order forces ("prisoners are being pampered, coddled, they've got it better than people on the outside").

"I'm just trying to ignore both extremes and do my job."

Variance hearings

Hearings by the Illinois Pollution Control Board to determine which of the systems of political control is to be used at Granite City Steel's University Center at Edwardsville.

Today's session—the 18th since the hearings opened March 20—followed hearings, also at SIUE, on Monday and Wednesday in which Granite City Steel offered witnesses to support its contention that a pushing control system now being installed at the coke ovens is the best of two proposed plans to eliminate coke oven emissions.

The environmental Protection Agency favors a shed structure developed by Great Lakes Carbon Co. Co. St. Louis, but admits it would take 30 months for Granite City Steel to install the system. The steel company is asking a third one-year variance to complete installation of its pushing control system.

Further hearings are scheduled April 11 and 12 and April 22 and 23, all at SIUE.

St. John Lutheran to confirm

Confirmation of 13 young people will take place Sunday at St. John Lutheran Church, St. Clair and Dale avenues, at 10:30 a.m. according to the pastor, the Rev. Samuel Boda.

Class members were presented to the congregation last Sunday. They will enter the church sanctuary in white robes in a opening procession led by the pastor. Following the sermon, the Senior Choir will sing the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's Messiah. Seminarian Martin A. Seltz will serve as organist.

Those to be confirmed are Pamela Lou Allen, Lori Lynn Astorian, Robert J. Azari, Terri Denise Deterding, Susan Lorraine Foster, Danny W. Graham, Mona Lee Hackney, Marilyn Frances Hall, Dwayne E. Jorgensen, David Bruce McGowan, Kimberly Dawn O'Dell, Beverly Kay Owen and Linda Walsh.

The class will receive its first communion on Maundy Thursday at 7 p.m.

After Sunday's confirmation service, each member of the class will receive a certificate with a special verse and a Bible, a gift from the congregation.

He agrees that such a system increases the security risks, but says visitors could smuggle guns or drugs into the prison more easily. Reasonable steps are taken to offset the threat, he says. Women must leave handbags and such outside, and the prisoner strips, dons trash clothes for his interview, is searched and changes back to his previous clothes after the visit.

"But this is a private thing," Sielaff stresses; "there's nothing to humiliate a man in front of his family."

A Training Academy to professionalize the staff was recently put into operation, and budget requests are granted, he plans to increase salaries for custodial personnel (the term "guard" is out, these days, too—along with "prison," "inmate," "convict") and the like, among the professionals.

He has whittled the department's middle-management staff, and made overall cuts from $,000 to a present 4,800 employees. "We make sure people perform," he says. "If a job doesn't provide direct service, it goes."

Not all his goals have been met, by a long shot. Before he can inaugurate his "contract" system, he will have to add significant numbers of counselors—to a hoped-for ratio of one to each 75 residents. Volunteer programs, such as the prison Jaycee chapters, or a program sponsored by the bar association, need beefing up, he feels.

He wants to expand the work-release program, adding three more centers to the existing seven, says Sielaff, sometimes to see expansion of the furlough plan, under which an inmate can get a weekend off to visit his family, and is on his own to get there, and return, voluntarily. Pennsylvania had a big furlough program, with about 5,000 men released in all, Sielaff said, and 96 per cent came back as expected. Of the remaining four per cent, two per cent (100 men) failed to return, and two more per cent, another 100 men) committed additional crimes while they were out. Such a program obviously requires a high degree of skill in evaluating which men are minimum risks, he said, and Illinois just hasn't got that kind of skill available now.

Already in the works is a plan to provide group medical insurance for inmates, which will be a national "first." Specifications now being drawn will be released for bid as soon as federal money, being channeled through the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission, is released.

"Medical care for inmates isn't good in Illinois," Sielaff

Holy Week at St. Bartholomew's

The observance of Holy Week at St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church, 22nd Street and Grand Avenue, will begin with the distribution of the palm fronds on Sunday, the Rev. Wilbur L. Lear, rector of the local parish, said today.

Music for Palm Sunday will be provided by Miss Elizabeth Ann Ledbetter, who will play "Judas Macabaeus" by G. F. Handel, "Christ Lag in Todden" by J. S. Bach and "Triumphal March" by Handel. Mrs. William Ledbetter will sing a special solo during the service.

The Rev. Lear will celebrate a Solemn Eucharist, assisted by Frank E. Bowden. Steven Gurnea will serve as reader. John Sturdevant and Dean Heth as acolytes and Douglas Heth will be the crucifer. A principal feature of the Eucharist will be the reading of the Passion According to St. Luke by three lectors and the congregation. Simple celebrations of the Holy Eucharist will take place at 5:45 p.m. Saturday and 7:30 a.m. Sunday, as well.

Services during the remembrance of Holy Week are set at 8 a.m. Monday and Tuesday; at 6:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, followed by the final session of a Bible study series in the church undercroft. On Maundy Thursday, the Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 11 a.m., followed by the stripping and washing of the altar and the watch before the blessed sacrament until 9 p.m., the Rev. Lear said.

Mrs. Dolores Ayers presented the devotions and Mrs. Alice Hoffman and Mrs. Louise Mitchell sang a duet. A special song was sung by Mrs. Mina Duggins.

Roll call was answered with scripture verses. Several members read prayers for a revival series set for April 14-21 at the church.

Those attending included Ruby Classen, Wilma Gillham, Allene Neumann, Gertrude Bundy, Ruth Hassler, Minnie Cavins, Kay Pierson, Cora Miller, Rene Mayberry and Mary Patterson.

Gifts were presented to the small honoree and refreshments were served.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lloyd and children, Donnie, Barry and Julie, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Birdsong and daughter, Lenetta, Bernard Pickett, Kathy Raynor, Mrs. Helen Marsh and children, J. D. and Amber, Bill Robbins and children, Buddy and Melody, and Darrell Page.

Lake School parents to hear candidates

Candidates in the April 13 school board election in Granite City will address members of the Lake School PTA at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the school, Mrs. Dorothy Phelps, PTA president, has announced.

The remainder of the program will be devoted to a choral reading by pupils from the language arts class of Mrs. Betty Yarbrough.

OUTDOORS IN ILLINOIS
Illinois is beautiful so give it a chance

By BOB WHITE particular.
It may teach us on mass not only to avoid waste, but to go beyond avoiding the negative — to become positive in our thoughts and deeds about conservation.
The idea of conservation has been with us for a long time. But as a people, we largely have left conservation to the conservationists.

No more will this be enough. Consider some of the prices we are now beginning to pay — literally, at gas pumps, grocery stores, and in taxes — for our failures to conserve during the years of plenty.
Consider the "outdoorsman" who regarded himself conservation-minded because he took a two-week fishing trip to Canada each year and during the remaining 50 weeks of the year left matters of conservation to others.

While he was shunning Illinois lakes and streams for those which hadn't yet been polluted, he was contributing most of the year to write off the natural resources around home as being someone else's concern.
If nothing else, the energy shortage, and all the concomitant shortages it may bring, must teach us that we are indeed our brothers' keepers; that when any one of us suffers we each and all suffer.
For now Illinois "sportsmen" are going to have to face up to the fact that they've fouled their nest for too long. No longer can they run off and forget about it. They're stuck at home, and they'll have to reap what they sowed, or failed to sow.
More than ever before in our lifetime, we now must face that reality. Illinois is our home. It is our jobs, our families, our place of work and recreation, of sowing and of reaping, of living and dying. Illinois can be a most hospitable home among the various places on this planet.
It is not a place of breathtaking mountains, or of endless forests and cold, rushing waters, or of splendid sea coasts. On the other hand, it is far from being a desert.
Illinois is a home which nature has endowed amply with natural resources. There is richness in her soil, beauty in her hills and valleys, variety in her climate, and an opportunity overflowing to enhance it all.
Instead of saving up for 50 weeks to spend our leisure fruits on vacationing elsewhere, we might better develop and preserve this state and its recreational potential by getting to know and love it better.
Very few persons, indeed, have visited every county in Illinois — even some which are quite near home.
Those who do spend time in some not-before-visited area of the state invariably return home expressing their wonder and pleasure. They had written Illinois off, and they found that they had been wrong.
Mountains, no, but did you ever visit the Illinois Ozarks? Or the majestic hills near Galesburg?
Oceans we have not. But how many of us have ever set sail upon Lake Michigan, or even visited Illinois Beach State Park, or cast for salmon in her cold waters?
Great forests are not found in the Prairie State. But White Pine State Park is a place of quiet beauty and solitude not far from home. And the Shawnee National Forest at the southern end of the state is a very large area of great forested beauty.
There is the mighty Mississippi, with thousands of acres of near-wilderness backwaters. There is Lincoln Land in the Springfield, Salem, and Lincoln areas; Indian Mounds near Cahokia; Starved Rock; the Illinois River and many more.
There is great bass fishing in some of the new state water impoundments. Lake Kincaid, Shelbyville Reservoir, Crab Orchard, Little Egypt, Big Grassy, and others.
To a very large extent Illinois already has everything a human being needs for healthful, wholesome, and psychologically sound recreation and renewal, as well as for a decent quality of life.
If we see what's there and use it, we'll come to love it. From there it's only a labor of love to improve it into a year-round home.

Aside from his interest in "improving the efficiency of operations in the school district," his major concerns are "the updating of board policies, a clearer delineation of board-administrator relationships, and an increase in the involvement of the public, the staff and the students in the affairs of their schools."

She favors "honest management and true economy of the school board; adequate and efficient but not excessive administration; careful evaluation of expenditures, and highly qualified teachers with proper compensation."

She comments, "To overload classes and reduce faculty is false economy. I agree with taxpayers who prefer a non-dictatorial, democratic school board representing business, labor, professions and various walks of life—all serving with integrity, dedication and a deep concern for children."

"These are my primary objectives."

Kiwanis helps senior citizens

The Evening Kiwanis club at its Monday meeting in Charlie's Restaurant voted to purchase a public address system for Granite City Senior Citizens.

President Howard Elbertson announced that the club will participate with the Kiwanis in a peanut sale in the near future, and that the boat races will be held again at Horseshoe Lake in July.

STUDENT TUTOR—Al Grover of Highland, a student tutor for the Association of Collegiate Veterans at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, goes over a class assignment with Willie Reid of Centerville. Tutoring is one of the community service projects in which students are most active on the SIUE campus.

"SENIOR POWER"—A student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville pins a button that reads "Senior Power" on a lady attending a Senior Fair on the SIUE campus. Senior citizens attending the fair learned about area services available to them. The student is one of numerous volunteers from SIUE who are involved in community service projects.

Park has Liberty Bell of the West

Editor's Note: This is one of a series on Illinois' state parks and memorials.

By JOAN MURARO

CHESTER — Louis XIV, the "Grand Monarch," was still on the throne of France and people born in Shakespeare's lifetime were still alive, when the first French settlers founded a community at Kaskaskia, near the junction of the Kaskaskia and Mississippi rivers in 1703.

They were the first people into the area, after the Indians, and they were followed by settlers and traders until, half a century later, there were more than 600 people living there.

During the French and Indian War, the Kaskaskia residents feared attack by British forces and petitioned the French crown for a fort, offering to provide the materials for it. The petition was granted and the fort, made of heavy palisades, was erected on the bluff above and across from the town. It remained a protecting haven until 1765 when the French community which had built it deliberately destroyed it, lest it be occupied by the British who had won control of the region.

Inevitably, the far-off American Revolution actually made itself felt even as far west as Kaskaskia. George Rogers Clark, acting on a commission from Virginia Gov. Patrick Henry, organized a company of Kentucky "Long Knives" and marched across present southern Illinois, after having successfully by-passed Fort Mastic on the Ohio River.

Appropriately, the group reached Kaskaskia on July 4, 1778. A large stone building there, which had been a Jesuit mission until the religious order was suppressed, had been converted into a barracks and named Fort Gage. Clark's forces surprised the garrison there and took the fort without firing a shot.

The parish bell, which had been a gift of Louis XV of France, was rung to herald the region's new freedom, and henceforth was known as the "Liberty Bell of the West."

The territory became a county of Virginia. Kaskaskia was too far away for efficient control by the new American government, and anarchy replaced local government after the Revolution. For many years the villagers were terrorized by John Dodge, a Connecticut adventurer, and his band of desperadoes who seized the fort and used it as a base for their criminal operations.

From 1809 to 1816, Kaskaskia was capital of the Illinois Territory and became the first state capital when Illinois was admitted to the Union in 1818. Two years later the capital was moved from three rented rooms at Kaskaskia to Vandalia, and the town's final decline began.

Even nature turned against the old community. In 1844, a flood nearly destroyed the town, and again in 1881 the Mississippi turned on the community — quite literally. At that time the river changed its course to move back to its old channel and when the waters calmed, there was a new island in the river, while much of the first Kaskaskia had washed away. Yearly, the river renewed its determined attack until now all of old

Students active in community service

The primary reason students attend college may be to go to classes and get an education, but many students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville get an education in a much broader sense—through community service.

Community service projects at SIUE range from a Heart Fund marathon run by a fraternity on campus, to volunteer workers spending many hours helping patients at Alton State Hospital and the Troy Shelter Care Home.

One of the most active programs involves tutoring. The Association of Collegiate Veterans (ACV) has a large tutoring program for veterans who have come back to school and need some help in getting readjusted to college life.

The Community Involvement Project (CIP) sends students out into the community wherever needed to help in many capacities. Some of the volunteers help the emotionally disturbed, the elderly and the sick.

The CIP also has been active in fund-raising activities. These activities range from helping a single family with hospital bills, to gathering food for flood relief victims.

Students not only go out into the community, they sometimes bring the community to the campus. Last fall, the Student Activities Office hosted a Senior Citizens' Day on campus. Many senior citizens came to SIUE for a day of fun and recreation, as well as to learn what services in the area were available to them. A similar fair for youth is planned for this month.

The Free University on campus holds informal classes for anyone, regardless of educational background, who wants to learn. These classes are taught by students and individuals in the community who want to share their skills, talents or interests. Anyone can attend the sessions, which are free of charge. Some of the classes being taught this quarter are: auto mechanics, yoga, folk guitar and mushroom investigation.

Activities such as these are bringing the campus to the community and the community to the campus.

HERE'S HOW Tile laying needs right adhesive

By GENE GARY

Q. Our kitchen has a newly tiled floor. Our problem is that the cement oozes up between the tiles and it is a mess to clean up. Friends tell us that we probably used too much cement in laying the tiles and I thought that by now this oozing would stop. Is there any other than removing the tile to fix this? — Gloria B.D.

A. When too much adhesive is applied as the floor is laid, the excess will seep up between the cracks, probably for some time. As it seeps up, it can be wiped off the surface easily with a cloth dampened with naphtha, and the condition should clear up within a year. But if it does not clear up soon, it is possible the wrong adhesive was used. Special adhesives are recommended where resilient covering is installed over a concrete floor. In the event this is your trouble, the only remedy I can suggest is to take up the tile and install it again with the proper adhesive. Floor dealers can advise you about the right kind of adhesive. I am also presuming that you have a concrete floor. If it is a wood surface underneath, another kind of adhesive should be used.

Kaskaskia is gone.

Fortunately, in 1891, the General Assembly appropriated $10,000 to relocate early pioneer graves in three old cemeteries lying near the river's junction. The bodies were moved to the specially created Garrison Hill Cemetery before the original burial sites were washed away. Today the cemetery, marked with a monument to these early settlers, lies within Fort Kaskaskia state park.

The park itself lies north of Chester, Ill. Rt. 3. Nearby is Fort Kaskaskia State Memorial, located on a 14,000-acre island which is the only part of Illinois located west of the Mississippi and which can only be reached by bridge through St. Mary's, Mo. A small brick building that houses the now cracked "Liberty Bell of the West" as a memorial to the vanished old community.

The state park offers seven picnic sites in its 250 acres, as well as a summer interpretive program, two playgrounds, and a large camping area. The latter is augmented by an overflow camping area which has a small shelter.

As in all facilities operated by the state Department of Conservation, groups of 25 or more must have advance permission to enter the park, groups of minors must be accompanied by at least one responsible adult for each 15 minors, and all campers must have a permit from the park. All pets must be leashed.

Q. Would you please advise what method can be used in removing deep cigarette burns from table tops and other wood furniture? — C.F.M.

A. For removing a deep blemish or burn, remove the damaged wood with a razor blade. Clean with naphtha and smooth with "four zero" steel wool, the finest grade. Clean again. Then fill the dents or burns with layers of stick shellac or wood filler. Stain to match the finish, and smooth and wax.

Add 4 learning centers Grant for past school bonding

The Granite City Board of Education Tuesday night approved expanding the number of schools with learning centers from eight to 12, and the board requested that consideration be given to providing learning centers at more schools next year if possible.

New schools to be included in the learning center concept are Lake, Parkview, Marshall and Webster elementary schools.

The learning centers, which further the individualization of the instructional programs in reading and mathematics, first were started as pilot programs at Emerson, Niedringhaus, Naneoki and Wilson elementary schools in 1972.

The following year, the program was expanded to Maryville, Mitchell, McKinley and Washington elementary schools under the board's intent of expanding it by four additional schools each year.

Studies of the schools having the learning centers have shown advanced vocabulary and comprehension in reading and improved computations and concept understanding in mathematics.

School Board Member George Moore Sr., asked if other schools besides Lake, Parkview, Marshall and Webster could be included next year.

Owen Humphrey, curriculum coordinator for the district, responded that space problems and a lack of personnel for such duties were problems hindering expansion of the program.

Moore said, "If there is any possibility of accelerating the program within available resources, it seems to be to the benefit of the students."

B. J. Davis, superintendent of the school district, said the administration will give further consideration to expanding the program and will report back to the board on feasibility of Moore's suggestion.

The date for the board's next meeting was changed from Tuesday, April 16, to Monday, April 22. The law requires the board meet to canvass votes and reorganize within 10 days of the April 13 school board election.

The board agreed to enter into an $11 million contract with the state highway department to have the state install entrances to Granite City High School North from Route 203, which the state is widening and improving.

Granite City School board attorney, gave an opinion that the board may enter into the contract since the work is to be adjacent to the present highway construction and requires coordination between the contractor of the highway and the contractor of the entrances.

G. H. Sternberg & Co. of Granite City was awarded a $19,915 contract to construct a steel storage building for the athletic fields at Granite City High School North. Several other bids were received and the board withheld action on awarding the contract at the previous two meetings in order to study the bids in greater detail.

The Illinois Capital Development Board has approved a grant application by the Granite City School District which could be reflected in a tax rate decrease of about 6 1/2 cents in the bond and interest fund, beginning with tax collections next year.

The Granite City Board of Education was told at its meeting Tuesday night that a $128,282 grant has been approved under the Capital

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Page 24 Thurs., Apr. 4, 1974

Development Act passed by the state last year which will pay a portion of the Granite City district's 1969 bond issue principle and interest.

The state will finance the program through its own proposed bond issue, but authorization for that issue must yet be signed by Gov.

Daniel Walker and the state bonds must be sold before any of the money will be distributed to school districts.

It is estimated the money will be received for this district by next spring, but even that date could be set back by the state. The decrease will not be reflected in tax bills which homeowners will receive next month.

The local district may apply for additional funds each year as long as the state program remains in effect. The amount received each year will depend upon the number of schools applying for assistance.

The Granite City district's 1969 bond issue, which financed construction of Granite City High School North, Johnson School and the GHS South gymnasium annex, requires payment this year of $444,500 by the state, $240,000 for principle payments and $204,500 for interest.

The 1969 bond issue is only a portion of the district's total bond indebtedness which requires bond and interest payments totaling $1,106,332 this year.

Money granted the local district under the Capital Development Act will be sent by the state directly to the Madison County Clerk's Office to be directly applied to the bond and interest tax requirement, thus reducing the tax rate.

State police to listen to truckers on citizen radio

State Police Supt. Dwight E. Pitman said (Tuesday) he will order an enforcement crackdown of the new 55 mph speed limit, with state troopers monitoring citizen band radios often used by truckers. Pitman said:

"The Illinois State Police and the trucking industry have always enjoyed working rapport. We hope it continues. However, we will not tolerate blatant disregard for the posted speed limits of this state."

"If the truckers—or any other motorists—persist in the use of citizen band radios as a tool to help them escape apprehension for speeding, then the Illinois state police must resort to the same tool as a means of enforcement by monitoring these transmissions."

"The division of state police also intends to use to the fullest its resources of radar, vascar, airplanes, radar guns and marked and unmarked cars."

"The trucking industry likes to cite its superior driving record as reasoning for allowing trucks to travel at higher rates of speed than autos. One example of the invalidity of this theory is Indiana."

"In 1967, our neighboring state increased the truck speed limit to 70, the same as passenger vehicles. In 1968, Indiana experienced a 77 per cent increase in fatal accidents involving trucks."

"The maximum Illinois speed limit for trucks before enactment of the 55 speed limit was the same—55 mph. The industry has no argument."

Extra Internal Revenue hours

Internal Revenue Service offices will be open extra hours on Saturday, April 6, and on April 13, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., to provide additional help to taxpayers preparing their federal income tax returns.

Leon C. Green, IRS district director for Central and Southern Illinois, said that on Monday, April 15, the deadline for filing income tax returns, all IRS offices will be open until 9 p.m.

"If your questions are too complicated to handle by phone, and you can't visit an IRS office during the week, you can visit your IRS office on these dates," Green said.

"Our taxpayer service representatives will be on duty to help."

The toll-free telephone number to call for tax assistance is 800-252-2921. This service is available year-round.

Missouri River now in full use

The Missouri River is now open to river traffic.

Since Dec. 1, when the Coast Guard cutter Cheyenne plucked the last buoy from the stretch of water, the 735-mile stretch of river between here and Sioux City, Iowa, has been officially closed to navigation.

The "road signs" or "aids to navigation," as the Coast Guard calls them, were out of the water. Travel on the "wide Missouri" was strictly at one's own risk.

During the past week, the Army Corps of Engineers has let the water flow at a dam above Sioux Falls and the three Coast Guard cutters that service the river have been replacing all of the buoys that mark the edges of the nine-foot navigation channel.

They also have been checking the "day marks" along the banks of the Missouri to make sure they are visible to the mariners who guide thousands of tons of grain and other cargo to Mississippi River and ocean ports each year. The job is now complete and large strings of empty barges are being pushed toward the first load of Midwestern grain of the season by powerful towboats.

From now until next December, when the waterflow is again turned off and the river closed, the Coast Guard's three Missouri River tenders, Gasconade at Omaha, Neb., Sciota at Leavenworth, Kan., and Cheyenne at St. Louis, will make several patrols a month making sure buoys stay in the right place and lighted aids stay bright.

Julian Bond will lecture at university

Julian Bond, a member of the Georgia legislature, will lecture at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville at 1:30 p.m. Monday, April 8, in the Meridian Ballroom of the University Center. His lecture is open to the public.

Bond will be guest of honor at a public reception at 11:30 a.m. in the University Club restaurant.

His visit to SIUE is being sponsored by the SIUE Black Students' Association (BSA) and is the second in a series entitled "Gettin' Acquainted, '74."

At the 1968 Democratic Convention in Chicago, Bond became the first black person ever to be placed in nomination for vice president of the United States.

He was first elected to public office in Georgia in 1965, but was prevented from taking his seat in the Georgia House by members of the legislature who objected to his statements about the Vietnam war.

After winning a second election in 1966 to fill his vacant seat, he was again barred from the legislature.

In December 1966, after Bond won in a third election, the U. S. Supreme Court ruled unanimously that the Georgia House had erred in refusing him his seat. He took the oath of office on Jan. 9, 1967.

Admission to his lecture will be $2 for students and $2.50 for non-students. Ticket information may be obtained by calling the BSA office, telephone 692-2248.

Sorority to aid nursing home

As a community service project, the service committee of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority City Council toured the Madison County Nursing Home, Edwardsville, last week to determine specific needs at the facility which the council can provide.

Chairman of the committee, Mrs. Ellen Wilson, of Pi Eta Chapter, accompanied by Mrs. Cheryl Gibson, Pi Eta, and Mrs. Shirley Farnley representing Nu Zeta Chapter, were escorted on the tour by Floyd Fischer, director of the home.

The proposed project will be funded with proceeds from the City Council's Valentine Ball. The Madison County Nursing Home, located at 2121 Troy Road, Edwardsville, is situated on 40 acres of landscaped grounds.

The buildings formerly housed the Madison County Tuberculosis Center and on June 14, 1971 the TB Association officially presented the keys to the Madison County Board Supervisors.

After an extensive remodeling program, the facility was changed from a hospital to an intermediate care nursing home with 96 patient beds located on three floors.

At the present time only one elevator is in use at the building. However, a second one is being installed, Fischer said. A barber shop, beauty salon, recreation area and therapy rooms are located in the basement.

The nursing home has an open admission policy and also practices the concept of limited drug use with the patients, Fischer told the committee. Patients are encouraged to have family and friends visit the home and to come and go at will after signing a departure register, the director added.

At the next meeting of the Beta Sigma Phi City Council, members will review the needs at the home, which include lawn furniture for a new picnic area, swings for the yard, wheel chairs with leg extensions, a juice program, newspapers and magazine subscriptions and articles to be used in arts and crafts projects.

Organizations interested in assisting at the home may contact Fischer or the Volunteer Nursing Home Auxiliary.

Energy shortage until 1985—Cong. Price

Congressman Melvin Price (Dem., 23rd Ill.), in a major statement on the nation's energy problems, has told a Georgetown University audience that the current shortage will probably last a decade.

Rep. Price, chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, said that 1985 is a realistic target date for attaining national self-sufficiency in energy. He did not object, however, to President Nixon's 1980 target date because, he said, "it is vital for us to have national goals to shoot at."

"The lead time problem is a most difficult one for legislators to face," said the local congressman, explaining that development of new energy sources takes years of research and implementation.

"For example, in the only two areas where we can do something significant, without going through a major research and development phase—coal and nuclear—it will take five to eight years to bring an additional energy generating plant into existence."

Rep. Price de-emphasized the "so-called conservation solution to our dilemma."

"Of course, we must use our energy resources as efficiently as we can," he said. "We should not, however, advocate curtailing energy uses to the point where some of our people will have to go back to menial drudgery."

"This nation has the talents and physical resources to continue to improve the comfort and dignity of man."

The congressman noted that his Joint Committee on Atomic Energy had predicted ten years ago that fossil fuel would "peak out" in the early 1970s.

He said it was difficult in the 1960s to get people interested in a problem which would not manifest itself for a decade.

Looking to the future, Rep. Price said, "One of the most significant things that can be done toward the attainment of our Project Independence goals is to build electric power plants which use alternate fuels to petroleum."

"In our efforts to achieve energy independence, we must be careful not to overemphasize displacing oil and gas imports with increasing domestic production of such fuels."

"Our resources of such fuels are very limited."

"Further increasing our dependence on such a resource will merely expand our reliance on the scarcest fuels, which could lead us down the road to major energy catastrophes in a decade or two."

Congressman Price has contacted James Lynn, secretary of Housing and Urban Development, urging HUD to continue funding of model cities, urban renewal and other categorical grant programs until new legislation passes Congress.

"It is evident," said the congressman, "that termination or cutbacks in federal categorical grants now stand to seriously jeopardize hard-fought advances made in community development. This period of transition is a dangerous one."

"Model cities and other grant programs have had positive impact on reversing a trend of economic and social stagnation in some of our urban areas."

"Current funding for the programs ends on June 30. New legislation may be delayed for several months after that date."

On the House floor, Rep. Price spoke in commemoration of Vietnam Veterans Day.

He told his colleagues that, during the year since the last U.S. troops left South Vietnam, "we have understandably attempted to forget the pain of the war and minister to the divisions it left in our nation."

He warned that, in leaving the war behind, "we must take care that we do not forget the valor of the men who fought there."

Rep. Price suggested that it is "time to alter the nation's different attitude, toward its Vietnam veterans."

"We must reserve for our Vietnam veterans a place of honor at least equivalent to that of other veterans."

"The veterans of Vietnam demonstrated the same spirit of gallantry, the same spirit of sacrifice, and the same resolution of will which has distinguished American soldiers in every war we have ever fought."

"The fine record of these men is testimony to the continuing ability of the U.S. armed services to meet any threat to peace anywhere in the world."

"Although many Americans may not be proud of our role in Vietnam," said Price, "all of us can take pride in the men who fought there."

"The American people must become sensitive to the needs of veterans and begin to answer their call for assistance as unselfishly as the veterans answered the call of their country."

Scholarship to Elmore

Winners of County Scholarship Committee scholarships in Madison County have been reported to Harold E. Briggs, superintendent, Educational Service Region, who accepted applications for these scholarships last December.

Three scholarships are available in Madison County, awarded on the basis of scores made on ACT examinations given on April 28, 1973, July 21, 1973 and Oct. 20, 1973.

Preference is given to children of veterans whose fathers are deceased or disabled. They exempt the winners from tuition for a period of four years.

The scholarships are: Child of a veteran of World War I, Child of a veteran of World War II and child of a veteran of the Korean conflict. There were 22 applicants from Madison County.

For Madison County, the winners this year are:

Child of veteran—World War I: No applicant. World War II: Bruce E. Dettmer, RR 2, Edwardsville. Korean conflict: Davis Elmore, 3047 Washington Ave., Granite City.

These scholarships can be used only at the University of Illinois, any of the three campuses: Urbana-Champaign, Chicago Center or the Medical Center.

All winners and non-winners are notified directly by the County Scholarship Committee of Illinois with offices in Champaign.

It is suggested that unsuccessful applicants for these scholarships apply immediately for an Illinois State Scholarship Commission monetary award if they have not already done so but believe they might qualify for one. Information about these awards can be obtained from high school counselors.

DRAMA SCHEDULED FOR MADISON High School humanities classes today. The Art Interface Performing Company of the Young Audiences, St. Louis Chapter, will present a program of music, dance and drama in the MHS auditorium. The humanities program at the local school emphasizes creative and performing arts. Pictured are Joyce Rosenfeld and Jim Scott in a scene from "Lady Lament."

Creative, performing arts emphasis at Madison High

The Art Interface Performing Company of the Young Audiences, Inc., St. Louis Chapter, will present a program of music, dance and drama in the humanities classes of Madison High School today in the auditorium of the school.

A key aspect of the MHS humanities program is emphasis on the creative and performing arts.

Art Interface is a new concept in multi-art performances. A group consisting of two dancers, two actors, a poet and two musicians has created a program that blends dance, drama, poetry and music into a mixture of art forms.

The collection is divided into two sections.

"The Blue Raincoat" section is based on folk music with dramatic interpretation to give it shape and texture.

Based on the silent films of 1920s, "Flickers" is a melodrama with music instead of words. "Lady, Lady" invites the audience to be involved and think about itself.

"Steve's Song" is a story of forgotten love and "The Blue Raincoat" is a reflection of the times in our lives when we did not want to say goodbye.

"Lady Lament" is a dramatic presentation.

In contrast, there is "Enroute," a series of impressions in the world of dance, music and poetry. It is designed to introduce the audience to the way in which art develops through the use of words, sound and movement.

There is more to a poem than the words, it is noted. "Poetry Shoppe" is a recited poem accompanied by dance for a new dimension. "Fragile" shows that musicians and dancers can perform side by side in harmony.

Artistic director of Art Interface is Barbara Decker.

honorable discharge in 1945.

After the wartime service, Johnson received additional schooling, majoring in business and accounting at Hubbard's Business College, St. Louis.

He entered civil service as a clerk-typist, and subsequently rose to the position of inventory management specialist, completing training in material systems management at Ft. Lee, Va.

He retired from the Army Aviation Systems Command in December 1972.

Correspondence courses in religion have gained him diplomas from the "Voice of Prophecy," Christian Education and Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, with additional analytical studies of Old and New Testament Prophecies at Brooks Bible Institute, St. Louis.

Johnson has served Henry Mitchell American Legion Post 799 as its adjutant and finance officer. Positions of chaplain for Madison-Bond Counties, 2nd District, 5th Division and the Legion's Department of Illinois have been held simultaneously.

An instructor in the Illinois Baptist State Convention of Christian Education, he resides here with his wife, Vernice; mother, Mrs. Jessie Johnson; and daughters, Harelyn, Marsha, Kathleen and Penny.

An older daughter, Clarice, is married.

"My position with the School Board has been, and will always be, a representative for all of the people—working toward better education, doing the impossible now and the difficult later," Johnson comments.

'Boiler room' fund methods assailed

Full disclosure in fund raising solicitations and charity appeals was urged this week by Better Business Bureau President James C. Schmitt of St. Louis.

"We have had a rash of charity and fund raising promotions over the last few years where St. Louis organizations lend their name to a promoter who engages in a boiler room operation and solicits people over the telephone alluding to charitable benefits," said Schmitt.

"The public is not informed that a lion's share of the contributed dollar is going to fund raising expenses such as the promoter, and that little is going to the organization or charity for which the appeal is made."

"Two current cases in point are the St. Louis County Fire Fighters Association's and the St. Louis County Municipal Police Officers Association's drives to promote circuses. In both of these promotions, tickets are being sold based on appeals to help handicapped or orphaned children."

"The Fire Fighters president supported such a promotion by stating that his organization would receive 30 per cent of the net money collected. However, based on past information supplied to the Charities Commission, the Fire Fighters have received only 15 cents on each dollar contributed by the public and the rest went to the promoter and to expenses," said Schmitt.

"Recently, the District Five JC's informed the BBB they had cancelled a contract with a promoter to sell trash bags. The JC's would only have received 6 per cent to 8 per cent of the gross to distribute among their varied charities."

"In any community," the BBB president said, "there are only so many dollars that the public can give. There are more than enough needy charities without local organizations employing such tactics and siphoning off dollars that could be given directly to these needy charities. Such a proliferation of these promotions is becoming a rip-off to the public."

Schmitt called for full disclosure of all fund and charitable promotions and has requested that these organizations disclose to the public how much money will be collected and how much money they will receive.

"If the public has that information, then citizens will be able to make up their own minds as to whether their own money will be contributed to this organization or not. Full disclosure is in the public interest."

Barry White's albums praised

Barry White is beginning to take giant strides in his quest for superstardom as his two 20th Century albums both ride high on the charts. "Stone Gon", which came out a couple of months ago, and his latest release, "Rhapsody in White", both exhibit Barry's masterful technique of producing and conducting.

"Stone Gon" features White's unique vocal style of talk-singing in which he puts the emphasis of love on all five of these self-penned cuts. "Girl It's True, Yes I'll Always Love You" starts out side one and is followed by "Honey Please Can't Ya See" and "You're My Baby." Side two consists of "Hard to Believe That I Found You" and "Never, Never Gonna Give Ya Up," each running seven and eight minutes long. The length doesn't bring boredom, however, as Barry constantly leads his Love Unlimited Orchestra through each cut with flawless chords rifting from guitars, drums, trumpet and his own singing. "Rhapsody in White," on the other hand, is made up of shorter, more commercial songs with the dominating cut being the super hit single "Love's Theme." There's not much you can say about this LP except that it's a superb, beautiful musical delight and a must for anyone loving good music.

To become a star in today's world of music it helps to have crossover potentials and young 15-year-old Tanya Tucker has just that. You may remember her from her first version of "Delta Dawn," which soared high on both pop and country charts a while back. Her third album for Columbia Records, "Would You Lay With Me (In A Field of Stone)" has all the earmarks of another huge crossover LP for her.

Tanya's surprisingly mature voice along with background vocals by The Nashville Edition gives each cut an unusual toe-tapping quality.

It's hard to single out any one song as being the best, but the title cut along with "Let Me Be There," "The Man That Turned My Momma On" and "The Baptism of Jesse Taylor" all seem to be winners.

Graham Central Station, on Warner Bros. Records, premieres a fine production by Larry Graham and Russ Titelman. The new group combines such notables as Freddie Stone, Sly's sister, Billy Preston and artists from groups like The Tower of Power. Each has devoted all of his talents to lure you into a most shocking state of mind as you listen in disbelief and ah at what you didn't think you could be hearing for sometime to come. The horn and string arrangements play tugging games with your ears as the reality of a group as new as Graham Central Station shows how they can ac-totally compile and play music that is as compatible to the ear as any veteran group. Their distinctive soul along with a raw energy sound will enable them to hit both pop and soul charts. Try "Tell Me What It Is" and "Can You Handle It?"

Floyd Cramer can play some of the sweetest music this side of Casablanca. And then come down hard on heavy rock chords. Or slide into a twangy country sound. There's a little bit of everything in Cramer's latest LP for RCA, "The Young and the Restless." The title comes from the main theme of the movie. Another good album for Cramer collectors.

The Mechanical Bach — Poor Bach. He has been analyzed, argued over, dissected, orchestrated, peered into, mangled, swirled, synthesized — it's a wonder there's anything left. But there is. Brace yourself. Now there is a "Spaced-Out Bach" — and RCA's got him, courtesy of harpsichordist Joseph Payne and the multitracking equipment used in the LP. Payne is very good as he runs through some standard Bach music.

Tuition credit plan

Juniors and seniors at Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville will be able to pay tuition charges and other educational expenses with BankAmericard checks under a plan devised by the university and the credit card firm.

BankAmericard will mail credit card applications to all juniors and seniors listed by the university. Each student approved by the firm will receive a card with a line of credit established at $550 and five BankAmericard checks.

The line of credit is enough to cover quarterly tuition and fee payments for any undergraduate student. In-state tuition and fees total $189 a quarter. Out-of-state students pay $484 a quarter.

SIU will accept BankAmericard checks for payment of tuition, fees, loans, housing and student accounts receivable. However, no checks will be accepted for cashing.

Students using BankAmericard checks will be fare ("Fugue in G Minor," "Well-Tempered Clavier," etc.). And Bach? The old master still has it.

Thumbing The Classics — You hear Franz Liszt's "Transcendental Etudes" and first you wonder how anyone could have composed something so fiendishly difficult and, secondly, how any pianist could play them. But Jorge Bolet can, and does, play the études — and what an awesome technique he has. He performs the études, plus Liszt's six "Consolations" and "Liebestraum No. 3" on an RCA two-record LP titled "Bolet Plays Liszt."

billed subsequently by the card firm. These billings can be paid in full on receipt, or students can make monthly payments. Standard carrying charges will apply on time payments.

The BankAmericard system at SIUE will be franchised through the First National Bank in Chicago.

Students using BankAmericard checks to pay university charges must present cards issued through the Chicago bank in order to have the checks accepted for payment. Individuals with BankAmericard checks issued through some other bank may use the check system if the checks are provided by the bank which issued their credit card.

Arnold G. Franke, assistant vice president for business affairs at SIUE, said the bank card and check plan is entirely voluntary. The university will not pay the normal 1.5 per cent transaction fee usually charged to any firm providing goods or services through the credit card plan.

State retailer meet April 23

A nationally known retail consultant, Edith Grimm, will be featured at the 1974 Illinois Retail Merchants Association annual meeting at Arlington Heights, DuPage County, April 23. Through a presentation, "How to Sell More in '74," Mrs. Grimm will share her personal formula for improving sales productivity.

"Sales are the lifeblood of the retail industry," comments Hugh E. Muncy, IRMA president. "In this year of operating uncertainties, it is especially important that sales potential be fulfilled." The information presented by Mrs. Grimm, an innovator of creative merchandising, sales promotion and training programs, will be of value to every merchant, Muncy predicted.

Other topics to be covered at the annual meeting are Energy and Economics, Consumer Product Safety, Stone Protection, Young Homemakers and State and Federal Legislation, George M. Burditt, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, will be guest speaker at the luncheon session.

State to sell more anti-pollution bonds

By JOAN MURARO
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau
Another $25 million to $50 million in anti-pollution bonds may be sold late this summer or in the early fall.

So far, $100 million in bonds have been sold under the anti-pollution bond act passed by Illinois voters in 1970, authorizing a total $750 million bond issue.

Most of the money was intended to help Illinois communities upgrade, or construct, sewage treatment facilities.

To date, according to Ron O'Connor in the public information office for the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, a total of $62.5 million has been paid out, as of March 15, $121.5 million more was obligated but not yet disbursed.

The $63.5 million figure includes $14.5 million which was paid out this year.

O'Connor said it is anticipated that the $100 million in bonds actually sold so far will be exhausted early in fiscal 1974-75, which begins July 1.

The actual time, he said, will depend chiefly on how large the grants are which are approved early in 1974-75, and how rapidly they are processed.

The bureau of the budget, O'Connor said, has indicated that it prefers to sell bonds in blocks of $175 to $200 million at one time, so the comparatively small amount of the EPA sale would be included in some other sale when the time comes.

Originally, the Environmental Protection Act was based on an assumption the federal government would pay 75 per cent of most project costs, and the local government would pay 25 per cent.

However, most of the approved federal funds have been impounded and the state has been matching funds with federal money to make the federal funds go farther.

Student teacher at Cherokee reservation hopes to return

By WALTER STRANCE, Press-Record Staff Writer

Miss Debbie Gravitte, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gravitte, 722 Washington Ave., Madison, has returned home after student teaching at the Eastern Band Cherokee Qualla Indian Elementary School on the Cherokee Indian Reservation in North Carolina, near the great Smoky Mountain National Park.

Miss Gravitte, who will graduate from SUE at the end of the summer quarter, wants to return there as a full-time teacher after she graduates.

"I want to teach different cultured persons and have applied to teach at any BIA (Bureau of Indian Affairs) school," she said. "I have asked as my first choice to return to the Cherokee people."

"I spent the winter quarter from January through March there and found the people very warm and friendly, after they got to know me. When I first arrived I had two strikes against me; I was white and a yankee. Thanks to Pattie Johnson from Granite City who taught there last spring it took only a few days to make friends. Pattie spent a week with me helping me to get settled and showing me around. Pattie was well liked by the people."

The school has 600 children from kindergarten to sixth grade. Miss Gravitte taught mathematics and science.

"Thanks to Pattie, I made application and went before the Cherokee Children's Home board and they accepted me as a substitute house parent. I helped the kids with their studies and taught them arts and crafts. In return the children's home furnished me room and board."

"At the home, which takes care of children who have family problems, some are orphans. I helped take care of nine girls."

"I also have contacted the Southern Baptist Convention Mission Board for possible location among the Indians for a teaching position."

"There is a new, less than six-month-old, Southern Baptist Church started on the reservation."

Rev. J. D. Griffin who was a missionary among the Indians for 11 years, was called back to the reservation to pastor the church."

Miss Gravitte is a member of the First Baptist Church of Madison.

According to Miss Gravitte, very little of the Cherokee religion and ceremony remain today, except for demonstration purposes. Among the early explorers and settlers were missionaries who brought the Bible and the Christian message. Today the Cherokee people are basically Christian in their religion.

Many denominations have churches on the reservation and they have assisted not only in the Christianization of the people, but in the improvement of education, child care, and social development as well, Miss Gravitte related.

There are approximately 6,000 Cherokee people registered on the rolls of the Eastern Band of Cherokee. Over 1,000 of these live off the reservation. There are approximately 50,000 other Cherokee people in the western United States.

Modern grammar school and high school facilities and programs are furnished for the Indian people under the jurisdiction of the Cherokee Indian Agency; thus they are federal government schools.

Other agencies make available programs for pre-school children and adult education programs are regularly maintained. Some of the Cherokee parents choose to send their children off the reservation to nearby schools in the state system, she said.

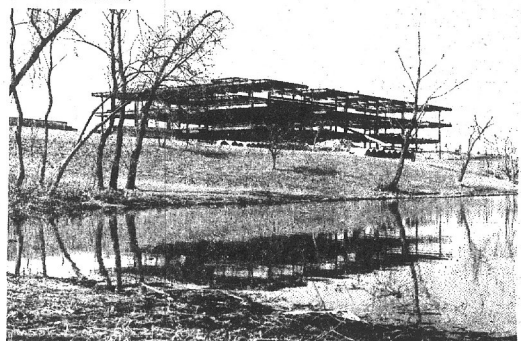

The tribal council, chief and council house still are a part of the government of the Cherokee people. The chief, who is elected every four years, and the council, elected every two years, meet in regular session to govern the affairs of the tribe, working cooperatively with the BIA.

The Indians on the reservation do small farming, operate trading posts, motels, tourist courts, restaurants, automobile service stations, work for the government and engage in many tourist trade enterprises.

CHEROKEE INDIAN GIFTS were given to Miss Debbie Gravitte of Madison who returned last week from student teaching at the Eastern Band of the Cherokee Qualla Indian Reservation Indian School in North Carolina. The gifts were made by parents, children and members of the tribe in appreciation for her work with them. (Press-Record Photo)

Home recreation activities still important to family

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK

Madison County Extension

Adviser—Home Economics

Choosing between family recreation and outside activities is a dilemma facing many of today's parents.

Recreation at home can help build family togetherness, but parents also know that outside activities help develop well-rounded personalities in their children. Parents must decide what is best for their own family.

An article in "Parks and Recreation" magazine notes some of the shifts away from family-oriented activities: our changing world is shifting opportunities and responsibilities for child rearing outside of the family; children spend more and more waking hours in the world of their friends and the television screen; "the family that plays apart stays together"

may be the future theme of recreation; and activities would be planned for family members on a separate but equal basis.

The family is, however, the most important influence on the personality of its members.

From birth, the family structure helps individuals become what they can and must be. This source of love, understanding and support when all else fails strengthens each person. It can offer a place where each one can be refreshed and "recharged" to cope with the world outside.

Home recreation activities are one way to improve a family's influence upon its members. Such recreation provides chances to share ideas and experiences. As a result, the human need for love, security, recognition and worthwhile experiences are met.

Love includes the need to feel loved, love of self and love of others. Security means faith in one's self and in abilities to do certain things. Recognition means "a pat on the back" from someone who really cares.

Worthwhile experiences include those helping the growth of attitudes, standards and ideals.

Family home recreation can help its members learn together, improve their communication and solve their problems. Learning can come from the things they choose to do together—partly because sharing a variety of experiences provides more chances for communication between them.

Because there are more chances to talk things over and to get to know each other, problems can be more easily solved or avoided.

More attention should be paid to family members and their special needs.

Working to provide family-centered recreation activities from early childhood takes time and thought. It is no small task for any parent. But rewards for the family members will be worth the extra effort.

Both young people have traveled with the Assemblies of God recording radio group—Revivaltime Choir.

An August wedding is planned.

Sands to lead Stallings scouts

John Sands was presented as the new scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 98 at a court of awards program and troop meeting at Stallings School gymnasium.

Sands was introduced to the PTA-sponsored group by Ray Gaudette Jr., who organized the troop in 1968 and has served as scoutmaster since that time. The retiring troop officer was presented a trophy in appreciation of his efforts with the boys.

The Cobra patrol opened the meeting by trooping the colors and leading the pledge of allegiance. A camping trip during Easter weekend will take place at Shawnee National Forest near Chester, Ill., it was announced.

Sands introduced members of the pack committee and presented warrants to Richard Gaudette, junior assistant scoutmaster; David Gaudette, senior patrol leader; Keith Rea, patrol leader, den chief warrant and ropes; and Wayne Jorgensen, patrol leader.

The retiring scoutmaster gave awards to Kevin Rea, three-year pin; Russell Grasso, two-year pin and citizen skill award; Dwayne Jorgensen, first class pin, two-year pin and patrol leader patch; Robert Theriac, first and second class pins and five-year pin.

Keith Rea, five-year pin, first class pin and patrol leader patch; David Gaudette, four-year pin, first class pin, Star badge and senior patrol leader patch; Richard Gaudette, six-year pin, fishing merit badge and junior assistant scoutmaster patch; and appreciation certificates to pack committee members.

Members of the Bulldog patrol recited a poem and retired the colors to conclude the ceremony.

Cub Pack 17 views space film

A film entitled "Space In the Age of Aquarius" was shown at a meeting of Cub Pack 17, sponsored by Marshall School PTA and held in the school gym. Moon walks, skylab and planet probes were stressed in the film, which speculated the possibilities in the field of agriculture for raising crops in "moon dust."

It also was noted the skylab project could be used for mapping and charting mineral deposits on Earth and help to locate underground rivers in desert areas. Harnessing severe storms, power of the sea and inner Earth heat may someday be realized through the program, the movie theorized.

Webelos under the direction of Joyce Wilson opened the meeting by raising the colors. Cubmaster Bill Johnson welcomed the group and introduced Bill Schreiber, pack institutional representative. Schreiber said the sponsoring PTA unit is "well pleased" with the Cub Scout program. He announced that pack registration will be held this month.

Johnson reported the Cub Scouts will hold a flag ceremony at the April 16 PTA meeting. The April 25 pack meeting will feature the annual pinewood derby race, he announced.

The pack advancement chairman, Mrs. Carlene Givens, presented the following awards: Kelvin Barnes, athlete, citizen, sportsman and traveler activity badges; Curtis Gaines, Webelos colors; Sam Givens, citizen and traveler activity badges; and Kenneth Wilson, artist and citizen badges.

'Sea Adventures' at Pack 46 meet

"Sea Adventures" provided the theme at last week's meeting of Cub Pack 46 held at the Nameoki United Presbyterian Church. Cubmaster Ben Miller was in charge.

The "cubby" award went to Den 1 for the best attendance. The pledge of allegiance was given by Den 2 under the leadership of Mrs. Charlotte Rapp to open the meeting.

Den 2 cubs also sang a song entitled "Five Little Fishes" and displayed a large hand-made fish created of matchsticks.

In keeping with the theme, a comedy skit on "A Disastrous Boat Ride" was presented by Mrs. Donna Butkovich's Den 3. Mrs. Helen Miller and Den 4 cubs were in charge of an "octopus" race with Den 3 winning first place.

Miller announced a fund raising popcorn sale will begin next week to provide extra money for the pack and give each cub a chance to win a "good turn" patch.

Pinewood derby car kits were distributed to be assembled by the April pack meeting when the annual race will be conducted.

The cubmaster presented the following awards: Silver arrow to Gordon Williams; gold and silver arrows to Kenneth Rapp and John Norris; gold arrow to Don Kaltmeyer; and gold and three silver arrows to Rick Branding.

Wayne Baumeier was in charge of awards earned by Webelos. They included: Billy Heyman, sportsman, artist and geologist; David Nichols and Todd Baumeier, geologist and sportsman; Todd Webb, artist and aquanaut; Tim Rozyczki, traveler and sportsman and Tim Mihu, geologist, sportsman and citizen.

The closing ceremony and "Goodnight Cub Scouts" were led by Mrs. Evelyn Mynt's Den 1.

Price would cut withholding tax

Cong. Melvin Price of this district is sponsoring legislation which would cut current personal income tax withholding rates by eight per cent and require the Internal Revenue Service to pay interest on tax refunds to those taxpayers who file their returns before March 1 if the refund check is not mailed within 30 days after the return is filed.

The Illinois lawmaker noted that by reducing the withholding rates, take home pay would be increased; this would generate additional buying power and stimulate the economy.

With reference to his bill to require the IRS to pay interest on money that rightfully belongs to taxpayers, Rep. Price said, "This proposal will encourage taxpayers to file early, but more importantly encourage the IRS to mail back any refunds early and pay the taxpayer the interest he could have earned had the refund been in his possession earlier."

"In these times, taxpayers need every dollar they can earn. It isn't fair for the government to prevent them from collecting interest on their money by excessive delays in returning overpayments."

APARTMENT RANSACKED

Percy co-author of historic Congressional budget bill

By LESTER BELL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

Sen. Charles H. Percy, a co-author of the Budget Reform Bill, was elected when the Senate voted 89 to 9 to adopt the revolutionary measure.

Designed to reassert Congressional authority over budgeting policy and procedures, the bill was sent to a House-Senate conference for resolving differences before final passage.

An aide to the Illinois Republican, watching the senator from the gallery, said Percy regarded passage of the bill as a climactic moment in his more than seven years in the Senate.

Percy was co-author of the bill with Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Me.

Percy is ranking Republican on the Government Operations Committee, which reported the bill unanimously.

"I believe we have produced a significant reform that will prove to be of revolutionary importance," Percy said on the Senate floor at the conclusion of voting.

Later, in a joint news conference with Ervin and Muskie, Percy suggested that the bill can be an instrument to cope with inflation, certain to be a key issue in the general election.

"In order for Congress to cope with inflation, it first must put its own financial house in order," Percy said.

"This bill puts the congressional budgetary process at last on a foundation of good management."

"It creates a workable process by which we can set practical budget ceilings and sensible spending priorities on a realistic timetable."

Ervin called it the "First bill in the history of the nation" to grapple realistically with Congressional budget making. Muskie, who earlier on the Senate floor praised Ervin for taking time from the Watergate hearing to shepherd the bill through his committee, said Congress for half a century has let budgetary control ebb away.

"Senate passage of budget reform is a major step toward returning control of the budget to Congress," said Muskie, floor manager for the bill, "and a major victory for the taxpayers who must pay for government services."

"This bill is a necessary step toward restoring the balance of power between Congress and the Administration in fiscal matters."

Percy, on the floor, had pointed out that the bill had Administration support.

"I feel a deep sense of personal fulfillment and satisfaction that the product we have wrought has been so overwhelmingly adopted."

He conceded that it is "not a perfect piece of legislation" and that it had "to accommodate the diverse views of all committees and senators," but he said he is convinced it will "evolve to meet the circumstances."

The bill creates a Congressional budget office to relate spending to revenues, adds a new budget committee in the Senate, moves the start of the fiscal year to Oct. 1, provides for adoption of a Congressional budget early in each session and its review, revision or reaffirmation before adjournment.

The bill would focus Congressional attention on four policy areas: The revenue needed and how it can be raised, the division of revenue among programs, whether to raise or lower taxes, and the level of surplus or deficit that would be consistent with sound economic policy.

Fruit plant pruning aids quality and size of plant

By CHRIS DOLL
Area Garden Adviser

Late winter and early spring are the best time to prune fruit plants. The weather is warming, but the plants are still somewhat dormant. This makes it easy on both you, the pruner, and the plant.

There are many reasons for pruning fruit trees, but the most important are improved quality and size of the crop. Pruning also keeps a tree vigorous and insures the growth of new fruiting wood.

Branches should be thinned out to make spraying and picking easier and to improve light penetration, but poor pruning may be worse than no pruning at all. Non-bearing trees should receive only light pruning to develop tree structure.

Remove dead, broken or diseased limbs, and thin out areas of dense growth. Make the cuts close to the limb base, but don't leave a stub. Stubs die back, keep the cut from healing, and make a good place for wood rot. Paint all cuts that are larger than two inches in diameter.

A rule-of-thumb is to remove 2 to 5 per cent of the bearing wood from dwarf apple trees, 5 to 10 per cent from regular apple trees, 10 to 20 per cent from peach trees, 4 to 6 per cent from red tart cherry trees and 6 to 10 per cent from plums. In early bearing years use the lower figure. For older trees use the larger figure. Keep the trees low and open. Annual pruning will make this much easier.

Small fruit plants (grapes, raspberries, blackberries, blueberries, gooseberries, currants) also benefit from annual pruning.

Grapes require severe pruning annually to maintain good vigor and fruitfulness. Fruiting of wood of grape is the smooth, bright colored canes that grew last year. Each bud on these canes will yield two to three clusters of fruit. For optimum yields leave 20 to 40 buds on the fruiting canes. Any shoot that has flaking or scaling bark is two years old or more and will not bear fruit. Late season pruning may cause some bleeding or sap flow, but this really doesn't hurt the plant. Brambles can be pruned before or after growth has started. If you wait until buds show green, you can determine how much winter or cold injury has occurred. If it's severe, prune back to live wood. But, if no cold injury is visible, remove weak shoots, cut side branches back to 6 to 12 inches, and lower the tops of plants to 30 to 40 inches depending on the vigor of the plants.

Blueberries, gooseberries and currants require light pruning. This could consist primarily of removing or thinning out of older and weak growing shoots.

How, and how much pruning you do to small fruits depends upon the training system used, the space available, and the size and quality of fruit desired. So remember that most plants try to over-produce, and by pruning you help balance the amount of fruiting. You can also regulate the size and growth of the plant to meet your needs.

Tax tip—Home sale creates capital gain

As a result of the upward trend in real estate prices, taxpayers who sold their homes in 1973 are likely to have enjoyed capital gains on the sales. In some cases there are steps that can be taken to minimize—or at least postpone—the taxes on those gains.

If the taxpayer has reinvested the proceeds of the sale in another house, cooperative apartment or condominium costing at least as much as the selling price of the one disposed of, there is no immediate problem; the capital gain tax is deferred until the gain is actually realized.

To qualify for such a tax deferral, the new home must be purchased—and occupied—within 12 months before or 12 months after the sale.

If the construction of a replacement home is begun by the taxpayer within 12 months of the sale, the time limit for occupancy is extended to 18 months.

What happens when a taxpayer finally gives up home ownership in favor of moving in with the children or renting? Then the tax on the previously untaxed capital gains on homes owned earlier must finally be paid.

But for many taxpayers this comes after retirement, when tax rates are likely to be lower than they were during the working years.

Also, for those past 65, there is no capital gain tax on homes sold for $20,000 or less if the home was owned and occupied as a principal residence for a total of five years during the past eight-year period.

On a home that sells for more than $20,000, a proportionate amount of the capital gain is tax-exempt. On a $30,000 home, for example, two-thirds of the gain is tax-free. This is a tax break that can be taken only once in the taxpayer's lifetime.

One other means of lessening the tax bite during a year in which there is a big capital gain or jump in earnings is income averaging.

This permits the use of District V garden clubs install

Fourteen garden clubs were represented at the 22nd annual meeting of District V, Garden Club of Illinois, Inc., at the First United Presbyterian Church, Collinsville, for the installation of new officers and a business session.

After a noon luncheon, Mrs. H. G. Heberer of Mascoutah installed officers for two-year terms.

The district executives are: Mrs. Arvid Nelson, Lebanon, district director; Mrs. Finis English, Winstanley Club, vice-chairman; Mrs. Arthur Buesch, St. Clair Country Club, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Lida Theis, Garden Study Club, Granite City, historian. Secretary, treasurer and parliamentary office holders will retain their posts for another year.

The meeting was opened by the retiring district director, Mrs. B. J. Iselhardt of Edwardsville, and the welcoming address was given by Mrs. Kenneth Holbert, president of Lakeview Garden Club, host for the event.

Mrs. Mary Muentlich led the 85 club members present in giving the pledge of allegiance in unison.

Serving on the nominating committee were: Mrs. Eugene Dahm, chairman, Mrs. John Jenkins, Cloverview Club, Granite City; Mrs. Victor Logan, Shilo Valley Club; Mrs. Kenneth Rank, St. Clair County; Mrs. Audrey Stewie and Mrs. English.

A new group "Friendship Garden Club" of Holiday Shores, near Edwardsville, was welcomed into the federation. The club was organized one year ago.

The agenda covered reports of club presidents, district chairmen and the district director who stated District V had won more state and national awards than any other district at the state convention. Major interest centered on the report of awards chairman, Mrs. Eugene Dahm, who announced winners in the year and history book contest.

Among the blue ribbon winners were three Granite City clubs — Cloverview, Garden Study and Gardennaires — which earned blue ribbons for each book. Women attending from these clubs were — Mrs. William Bradley, Mrs. John Jenkins and Mrs. B. C. O'Neill, Cloverview; Mrs. George Stearns, Mrs. Wilma Winter, Mrs. Bernadine Cooley and Mrs. Lida Theis, Garden Study; and Mrs. C. E. Eads, Mrs. Charles Kohl, Mrs. Al Malotki and Mrs. Earl Glenn, Gardennaires.

Winners for horticulture entries were Mrs. Winter, blue ribbon for a terrarium; and Mrs. Theis, three blue and two red ribbons for house plants. Activities chairman, Mrs.

1974 a year for green thumbs

By JAMES R. SHEARL
University of Illinois Extension Adviser

All indications are that 1974 will be a big year for home gardening.

The increase in gardening is the result of two basic factors: the upward swing in food prices and the renewed interest on behalf of the American public to get back to the soil.

For many, 1974 will be the first gardening experience. As an extension worker in Madison County, I am interested in seeing all enjoy their gardening experience this summer. It is for that reason that I offer a suggestion aside from the usual recommendations concerning fertilizer, disease, insect and weed control and plant varieties.

Many frustrating moments can be avoided if beginning gardeners approach this year with a definite plan.

A natural desire for many is to grow enough to last all winter. For the experienced gardener, this is quite practical. However, if you are just learning about gardening, I suggest this idea. Draw a garden map to help determine what you will produce and how much. There is no reason to go to the work of growing vegetables that are just going to be wasted.

For example, tomato plants are often sold in a tray containing eight to 10 plants. If you determine you will only use the produce from three or four plants, there is no need to plant all of them.

Madison County is fortunate to have a group of farmers who commercially grow fruits and vegetables for sale to home owners. This is a great asset and should be considered as part of your gardening plan.

By being able to buy fresh produce either at a roadside stand or as pick-your-own, the home garden can be kept at an enjoyable and manageable size. Utilize what space and gardening time you have to produce just enough to serve from on your table this summer.

Consider commercial produce for extra servings during the summer season and as the main supply for canning or freezing.

By taking this insurance policy approach to gardening, you will be a much more satisfied gardener. You will assure yourself enough delicious fresh fruits and vegetables to last all winter, and your food costs will be lowered.

Historic bells to sound Sunday from St. Peter's United Church

The bells of the village church at Rudersburg, Germany, near Stuttgart, will call the congregation of St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, 2100 Cleveland Blvd., to worship at 10:15 a.m. Sunday for its Palm Sunday service.

The historic bells of Rudersburg have summoned the faithful to worship for hundreds of years, the Rev. Robert Kettelhut, St. Peter's pastor, noted.

He reported that Mrs. Minnie Seibold and Mrs. Frieda Pufalt, members of the local church, have provided a tape recording of the bells made by a relative who lives in Rudersburg, the village where the two local women were born.

"Tradition dictates that the bells must never be moved from their steeple, the minister explained. He said during the war of 1870, Napoleon tried to remove the bells, but the large one was cracked and could not be dismantled.

Two smaller bells were taken from the steeple. However, the cart on which they were being transported became mired in mud outside the town and they were recovered and restored to the church.

During World War II, Hitler's forces removed the smallest bell to melt and remake into arms. After the war, the townspeople made sure another bell was cast and now all three bells continue to sound as they have for centuries across the surrounding countryside, the Rev. Kettelhut said.

Following the ringing of the bells, the Junior and Cherub choirs will begin the processional carrying the traditional palm branches. Special music for the worship will be provided by the two

State legislation is introduced on university board, coal, insurance

By MARY LOU MANNING
Press-Record Staff Writer

Springfield Bureau
Bills introduced during the March 6 session of the General Assembly ran the gamut from wildlife harvesting to newborn infants. The next session is scheduled for April 4.

On the Senate side, a bill introduced by Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, seeks to create a Board of Trustees for Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. It would also transfer management, control, operation and maintenance of the SIUE campus from the Board of Trustees of SIU to the new board.

Sen. Gene Johns, D-Marion, seeks to amend the Environmental Protection Act. The bill prohibits enforcement of the Pollution Control Board regulation which limits burning of Illinois coal until regulations are adopted to control emission of sulphur dioxide from such burning.

An amendment to the Vehicle Code was offered by Sen. Hudson Sours, R-Peoria. If adopted, it would require information on new speed and distance signs to be expressed in both U.S. customary units and metric units.

As promised last fall, a bill was introduced which would permit waiver of the one per cent penalty for failure to provide a minimum school term where a school district could not procure the energy resources necessary to keep schools open. The bill is sponsored by Sen.

Thomas Hynes, D-Chicago. Sen. Philip Rock, D-Chicago, seeks to amend the insurance code to provide that no policy of accident or health insurance which covers the insured's immediate family may contain a disclaimer of coverage to new-born infants.

The bill also provides that every such policy issued in this state shall cover every newborn infant from the moment of birth, and that such coverage shall include illness, injury, congenital malformation or premature birth.

An amendment to the School Code which would allow immunization at any time of a child whose parents or guardian objects to immunization on constitutional grounds was introduced by Sen. James Bell, R-Joliet.

However, this would occur only if there exists an epidemic of disease, for which the Department of Public Health requires immunization.

In another amendment to the School Code, Sen. Adeline G. Karis, R-Zion, seeks to add wildlife harvesting as a tool for wildlife management to the topics included in conservation study in schools.

Rep. William Mahar, R-Homewood, introduced legislation to ban the sale of liquor, except for beer, liquors, cordials and wines, in original packages of less than eight fluid ounces.

Provision for the Department of Transportation to prescribe standards for certified used cars was introduced by Rep. R. H. Holloway, D-Chicago. The bill also instructs the DOT to license diagnostic centers to test cars for compliance with standards.

Rep. Clyde Choate, D-Anna, seeks to amend the Income Tax Act. His bill would increase the rate on corporations from the present four per cent to five per cent and raise individuals' exemptions from the present $1,000 to $1,500.

This would become effective only if the constitution is amended to limit individual income tax rates to half of those imposed on corporations.

PREPAREDNESS PLANNING by Granite City Steel has included study of potential industrial emergencies by Plant Protection Chief Joe Schall.

Law Day to emphasize young people

A historic movement is taking place today within and without the realm of the legal profession.

For the first time, a major appeal is being made by most local and state bar associations to get teenagers and young adults involved in helping to continue the strengths of the system of justice—as well as to initiate ideas and proposed laws which will improve the system's direct impact on the public.

"Young America, Lead the Way" is the theme this year for Law Day, May 1, 1974. The Illinois State Bar Association is joining all other bar associations throughout the United States in urging youth to "Help Preserve Good Laws, Help Change Bad Laws, and Help Make Better Laws."

A four-point educational program is being undertaken by most bar associations to:

1) Convey to youth a deeper knowledge, understanding, and appreciation of the law and the legal process;

2) Examine and explore areas where the law has failed to provide equality of individual rights, especially for minority groups and alienated youth;

3) Provide a realistic conception of the potential for change within the legal process; and

4) Encourage support of the legal system and institutions and develop desire to participate in the democratic process.

Local and state bar associations have been asked to assist educators in selecting and preparing teaching materials, participating in teacher training sessions, and hosting meetings or panels of persons reflecting different views of the law in action.

They may provide lawyers and judges to address school assemblies and classes on the law and the legal process. role-playing sessions, sponsor field trips to study actual court trials and inspect local and state correctional institutions.

The Illinois State Bar Association notes that such programs can be carried on throughout the year and not just during Law Day.

"In many communities, local attorneys are happy to discuss the law with youth of all ages. A number of programs by local bar association members have resulted in second and third visits to classrooms due to the interest of the students," a spokesman said.

"The idea of any visit by an attorney is to attempt to give the student a better understanding of how the system of justice operates—and to encourage the student to begin to take an active part in reforming laws which he or she feels are a detriment to society."

"Many of our great public figures became interested in the law at a young age. Without someone to give them that interest, they may not have become the social contributors that they are today."

"Study of the legal process gives the student knowledge of how he can actively participate in preserving good laws, changing bad laws and making better laws."

"There is no better time than now to assist our youth in the full knowledge of their rights and responsibilities for improving our society."

Bike-a-thon set Friday, Saturday
Members of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity at the University of Illinois will make their second annual charity Bike-a-thon Friday and Saturday.

The marathon bike ride will begin in Champaign-Urbana at 9:30 a.m. Friday and will pass through several southwestern Illinois towns, including Granite City, collecting donations and money pledges at the local shopping areas for the Easter Seal Society, Belleville, will be the end point for the caravan, as the cyclist arrive there at approximately 4 p.m. Saturday.

The fraternity hopes to surpass last year's totals to help benefit programs for the physically handicapped in Illinois.

Emergency planning

Joe Schall, chief of plant protection at Granite City Steel, last week completed an Industry-Business Emergency Planning course at the national Civil Defense Preparedness Agency Staff College in Battle Creek, Mich.

The course, attended by participants from throughout the United States, covered world problems, the effects of natural and man-made disasters, major defense preparedness agency programs and local, state, and federal relationships.

Particular emphasis was placed on industrial emergency preparedness planning and concepts of an emergency operating center and their relationship to community preparedness.

The 3½-day course for representatives of industry, business and government is one of several special courses offered by the Staff College.

Chief Schall holds an associate degree in law enforcement and a bachelor degree in education. He is a 25-year veteran of the U.S. Army, from which he retired as a lieutenant colonel.

3,500 Cancer Society volunteers in county

Thad Carter, 1974 Madison County crusade chairman for the American Cancer Society, has announced that between 3,500 and 4,000 volunteers will be working for the Society during April.

April is the month that the President and Congress have designated as "Cancer Month" for the American Cancer Society.

Carter emphasizes that all volunteers for the Cancer Society will be identified by name tags with the words "American Cancer Society" and the Society's symbol, the "red sword of hope," clearly printed on them.

In the past, it has been brought to the attention of the Cancer Society that there have been persons masquerading as Cancer volunteers.

Carter recommends that the public, when a solicitor comes to the door, makes certain that he or she is a true Cancer Society volunteer.

Also, all door-to-door solicitors will be giving out educational pamphlets at each home they visit. The educational material this year places emphasis on the seven cancer warning signals.

The Cancer Society encourages every person to learn the warning signals and to see a doctor immediately if one should occur.

Emphasis is being put on the importance of obtaining an annual check-up, and the fact that over 1,500,000 lives have been saved from cancer because the people went to their doctor in time.

The warning signals are: A change in bowel or bladder habits, a sore that does not heal; unusual bleeding or discharge; a thickening or lump in the breast or elsewhere; indigestion or difficulty in swallowing; obvious change in a wart or mole; or a nagging cough or hoarseness.

MISSING GIRL, Susan Thomas, 17, of 2816 Emzee St., who has been missing since March 15. Persons having information which could aid in locating her are being asked to call the Granite City Police Department at 877-6111.

Dr. Leo Coleman earns 'Gospel magician' title

Dr. Leo Coleman, former Granite City dentist who now resides in Sun City, Ariz., has gained a new kind of fame—as a "gospel magician."

Dr. Coleman performs standard magic programs for clubs and organizations in the Phoenix, Ariz., area, but instead of the usual "patter," talk used by magicians to distract the audience, Dr. Coleman describes his tricks and actions by using religious themes and lessons.

Dr. Coleman first became involved in magic in Granite City about 10 years ago and began performing often when he retired from his dentistry business here five years ago.

While here he was actively involved in Boy Scout programs and now continues his 31-year tradition of helping the Boy Scouts at his present home. He still performs for many Boy Scout groups.

He has been active in police athletic programs. Dr. Coleman now is secretary-treasurer of the Phoenix chapter of the International Brotherhood of Magicians and is a member of the international executive committee of I.B.M. He also is a member of the Fellowship of Christian Magicians.

New renewal dates for hunters' guns

The Illinois Department of Law Enforcement is urging hunters to get an early start on their fall hunting plans by checking the expiration date on their Firearms Owners Identification Cards and submitting renewal applications 60 days prior to their next birthday.

Law Enforcement Director Harvey N. Johnson Jr. said, "Firearm Owners Identification cards are being changed from the date recorded on the identification card now in your possession to the month of the first birthday following the five-year expiration period."

"If the card has an expiration date during July of this year and the date of birth falls within the month of November, the card will expire during November of this year."

Application forms may be obtained from the Firearm Owners Identification Section, Department of Law Enforcement, 1035 Outer Park Dr., Springfield 62704.

Application forms may also be acquired from police departments, sheriff offices, other city and county clerk offices, sporting goods stores, gun shops or dealers, banks, currency exchanges, remittance agencies, gun clubs, insurance and notary public offices, state police headquarters offices and various conservation offices throughout the state.

A person renewing an identification card must submit a properly filled out application, submit a recent, clear, head and shoulder photograph approximately 1½" by 1½" in size with his or her name printed on the back and submit a $5 check or money order.

All three items—application, photograph and remittance—should be clipped together, enclosed in an envelope and sent to the Firearm Owners Identification Section, 1035 Outer Park Dr., Springfield, Ill. 62704.

Applicants must read the instructions on the back of the application and provide all information requested. Failure to do so can result in return of the application and cause unnecessary delay.

Applicants should send in renewals 60 days prior to the expiration date.

Former GC youth killed

Timothy Michael Hayden, 17, of Edwardsville, formerly of Granite City, was killed in a one-car accident at 1:55 a.m. Tuesday in the 1800 block of North Main Street, Edwardsville.

His brother Ronald, 19, driver of the car who was injured in the crash, was reported in fair condition at the Wood River Township Hospital.

Edwardsville police said Ronald apparently lost control of his car which struck several trees.

Timothy Hayden was born

March 26, 1957, at St. Elizabeth Hospital and lived about five years in this area.

He was a junior at Edwardsville High School and worked part-time at the Whistle Stop Gift Shop in Cottonwood Station, near Edwardsville.

He is survived by his parents, Paul and Peggy (Bryant) Hayden; two brothers, Dale and Ronald, both of Edwardsville, and one sister, Paula Ann Hayden, also of Edwardsville. Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.
